THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

VOL. XXII.

ATLANTA, GA., WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 8, 1891. TEN PAGES.

EDMUNDS HAS RESIGNED

HIS LETTERS TO THE GOVERNOR AND VICE PRESIDENT.

THE SENATOR DOES NOT STATE HIS REASONS

For Taking This Step, but Says It Is for Considerations Purely Personal-He Wishes Everybody Well.

WASHINGTON, April 7 .- Senator George F. Edmunds, of Vermont, who has been in the senate of the United States since April, 1866, and in nearly, if not quite all of that time, has been one of the republican leaders, has resigned, the resignation to take effect the 1st day of November next. Following is a copy of the letter tendering his resignation to the governor of Vermont: UNITED STATES SENATE, WASHINGTON, April 6.—Sir: Considerations entirely personal leads me to tender to you, as governor of the state of Vermont, my resignation of the office of senator of the United States, the resignation to take effect the 1st day of November, A. D. 1891.

This action has been for some time in contemplation, and is finally decided on and communicated to you at this time, in order that there may be ample time to hear and consider the views of the people of our state in respect of the selection. the people of our state in respect of the selection

In thus terminating my official relations with the state, I beg to express to her steadfast, inthe state, long to express to her steadfast, in-telligent and patriotic citizens my profound gratitude for long and unwavering confidence and support they have given me (covering an eventful period of a quarter of a century) in my efforts to promote and defend, so far as I have been able, their honor and welfare in cor with that of all the people of the United states.

In ceasing to be senator, I am proud that I continue to be a citizen of our beloved commonwealth, and that I may, with mylfellow citizens in private life, continue to strive for the mainten-ance of those principles of liberty, equality and justice in the government which have, without a shadow of turning, animated them from the foundation of the republic. I am, sir, very respectfully yours, George F. Edmunds.

His Excellency, Carroll S. Page, Hyde Park, Vt. Senator Edmunds notified Vice President Morton, president of the senate, of his resignation in a letter of which the following is a UNITED STATES SENATE, WASHINGTON, April 8.—Sir, it seems my duty to inform you that I have sent to the governor of the state of Vermont my resignation of the office of senator of the United States, to take effect on the 1st day of November States, to take effect on the 1st day of November next. Accept, sir, for yourself and senate my parting salutations, embracing personal good wishes for all its members and a confident, good hope for its future as "The sheet anchor of the republic." I am, sir, very respectfully yours.

The Hon. Levl P. Morton, vice president of the United States and president of the senate, Washington.

THOSE COUNTERFEIT CERTIFICATES Giving the Treasury Officials a Great Deal

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The counterfeit $2 silver certificate heretofore described in these dispatches is causing considerable trouble at the treasury department. Not more than twenty of these counterfeits have come into the hands of treasury officials. The extent of their circulation, however, is not known, as they bear so close a resemblance to he genuine note that they cannot be eadily detected except by an expert. The issue of the regular series of $2 sliver certificates has been suspended, and arrangements are being made for the issue of a substitute. The original bears a portrait of General Hancock, and the substitute will have that of secretary Windom. While the old series has not been called in, none of the notes of that series coming into the treasury will be reissued.

The department is also considering the advisability of discontinuing the use of the distinctive paper on which government notes and securities are now printed. A commission has been appointed to investigate the manufacture and use of paper and to report whether the interests of government require any additional safeguards in that respect.

THE FLORIDA LEGISLATURE.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 7.—[Special.]— The Florida legislature was organized at 12

m., today. Jeff B. Brown, from Key West, was made president of the senate, and Dr. J. S. Gaskin, of Starke, speaker of the house. C. N. Finlay, of Lake City, was made secretary of the senate by acclamation, and Dr. William Forsythe Bynum clerk of the house.

Call's friends claim the organization as a victory for Call. The usual committees were appointed, and Governor Fleming notified both houses that his message would be sent in tomorrow. The house adjourned till 3 o'clock p. m. today. The senate adjourned till 10 'clock a. m. tomorrow.

The alliance caucus meets at 7:30 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of centering on a candidate for United States senator against Call. MR. INMAN HAS CONTROL

The Annual Election of the Ten Coal and Iron Company.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 7.—[Special.]—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company was held at Tracy City, Tenn., and resulted in the election of almost an entirely new board of directors. John H. Inman's friends held a majority of the stock by proxy and otherwise, with the result that the old board named by William Duncan was retired. The following are the directors elected: John H. Inman, Thomas C. Platt, C. C. Baldwin, W. C-Sheldon, James Stillman, F. T. Brown, James T. Woodward, Samuel Thomas and A. B. Boardman, of New York; Thomas Barrett, Napoleon Hill and Enoch Fry, of Memphis; Nat Baxter, Jr., and A. M. Shook, of Nashville, and T. T. Hillman, of Birmingham. The directors will meet for organization April 15th, in New York. It is probable that Nat

Baxter, Jr., will be elected president, which office he filled before, when Inman was in control. An adjourned meeting of stockholders will be held at Tacy City Mon-POLK'S PECULIAR WILL.

Polk, in which his aged widow now resides, is adverwhich his aged widow now resides, is advertised to be sold for city taxes, amounting to $1,900. Mrs. Polk is amply able to pay the taxes, having a pension of $5,000, and receciving nearly $2,000 interest on her state bonds, and, perhaps, does not know that shadis in agrees. In his will. A Wonderful Freak.

Newport, Tenn., April 7.—[Special.]—A wonderful freak of nature took place on the farm of Mr. David Stokley a few days ago. A cow gave birth to a calf with two well-developed heads, but the calf was dead when found. The hide was taken off and will be preserved. cline to assume the trust, then such a perso by such other blood relations as may be designated. It is provided that whoever occupies the house shall keep it in repair and pay the taxes, The relatives with whom Mrs. Polk is now living are not blood relatives. It is contended that should the property be sold to some outside party for taxes, and a deed be made, this would defeat the terms of the will, and the state could not carry out the trust imposed on it. The property is very valuable, being two acres in extent, and being in the heart of the city, on the corner of Vine and Union streets.

THE SOLDIERS STILL ON GUARD. The Situation of Affairs in the Coke

MOUNT PLEASANT, Pa., April 7.-Morewood presented a lively appearance today. Fifty new men went to work this morning, making the total number at the ovens about 100. There was not the timidity among the workers that there has been heretofore. Soldiers are still on guard, but no attempt was made to molest the men who went to work, even when they are out of reach of the soldiers.

The arrests of yesterday were followed by several more today, and it is expected that by this evening at least thirty-five of the rioters will be behind the bars.

THE SHERIFF FEARS TROUBLE. Sheriff Clawson evidently fears trouble where there are no soldiers, as he has stationed deputies at the different works.

Something important is believed to be on foot today, but the nature of it is not known. foot today, but the nature of it is not known. Master Workman Kerfoot, who speaks the different languages, is hard at work this morning. He went down to Spring Garden and called on every striker personally.

The Huns are keeping exceedingly quiet, as they fear they will be arrested. A good deal of ill feeling has been engendered against Superintendent Ramsey over the report that Frick was going to import-men.

THERATS AGAINST THE SUPERINTENDENT.

THREATS AGAINST THE SUPERINTENDENT. Threats were made against Ramsey, and this morning a number of strikers gathered without his residence. Their actions aroused suspicion, and the militia was called out and the men driven away. Several shots were fired, but no one was hurt.

fired, but no one was hurt.

Adjutant General McClelland and General Wiley had a consultation this morning as to how long the troops should remain here. General Wiley seems to be under the impression that the ill feeling has about died out, and it is thought the militia will be withdrawn in a few days. The report that the strikers were threatening to use dynamite on the soldiers does not seem to have any foundation in fact. Dispatches from various sections of the region indicate a partial resumption at the different works. The operators are encouraged, and claim they will soon have their plants in fall. works. The operators are encouraged, and claim they will soon have their plants in full APPREHENSION OF TROUBLE. The situation is more serious this afternoon.

At 2:30 o'clock the Southwest Coke Company notified Captain Lind that the strikers wer assembling in the vicinity of the works, ostensibly for parade. It is believed, however, that a raid on the plant was contemplated. Colorel Hawkins, of the Tenth regiment, sent additional reinforcements to the scene, with extra ammunition. He instructed the men to fire upon any one who entered the lines. The operators and soldiers are apprehensive of trouble.

Reports from different sections of the coke country show a slight gain for the operators on this, the second day of resumption after the paralysis that followed the Morewood fatality. The citizens of the region are preparing to hold meetings and demand some sort of a settlement, as the business of the region is ruined. Tables have been prepared showing ruined. Tables have been prepared showing that the miners have lost in wages during the eight weeks' strike $1,200,000, while the operators' loss by the diversion of business to other regions and continued idleness and neglect is incalculable. It is a fact also that before the strike some 8,000 cars of coke per week were shipped from the Connellsville district, while during the trouble they have averaged between 200 and 300 cars per week. Still the operators seem determined to resume at their terms, while the miners say they will not go back unless starved out; then they will break their agreement at the first opportunity.

There was unusual activity at Morewood, Jimtown, Stirling, Adelaide, Leisenring No. 3, while at the Jackson plant, near Dawson, fifty men are working, and some little work is being done at Nellie and Clarissa plants, while the officials say their different companies are receiving applications for work daily.

Cregier. BETS ON CREGIER. Bets of $1,000 to $100 offered at midnight on Cregier had no takers. It is probable that Carter Harrison' treachery will avail nothing.

The Associated Press Report. CHICAGO, April 7 .- Today, in the most exciting scramble of an election ever witnessed in Chicago, the republican leader, Hempstead Washburne, came out on top, the first republican, save one, elected mayor of Chicago in fifteen years. This, at least, was the apparent result as shown at 11:30 o'clock p. m., when 433 precincts, out of 513, had been heard from giving him the lead to that hour of 2,952 over the democratic candidate, Dewitt C. Cregier, the present mayor of the city. The democrats had a formidable split in their ranks to contend with in the independent candidacy of ex-Mayor Carter H. Harrison, but the republicans were little if any better off in that respect, owing to a "citizens" movement, headed by Elmer Washburne, ex-chief of the United States secret service. Both Carter Harrison and Elmer Washburne, particularly the former polled a vote that was amazing to straight party politicians. Harrison is said to have had the secret support of a large number of wealthy men of the city, who are backing the world's fair. His old-time strength with the foreign-speaking people, especially with the Germans and Bohemians, returned heavily to him also.

Elmer Washburne's vote, while a surprise to Eimer Washburne's vote, while a surprise to machine politicians, was something of a disappointment to biodifficients, being confined more closely than to governed to the membership of America, vicieties.

considerable extent, the Irish-American vote, and this was exerted in a decidedly singular manner. Hempstead Washburne's wife is a daughter of the president of the Hibernian bank, of Chicago, and a large number of Irish-Americans wearying of the fight between the two democratic leaders—Harrison and Cregier—and believing that Hempstead Washburne was being antagonized by certain elements sofely on account of his wife, rallied to his support. The indications at 11:30 p. m. were that aside from Hempstead Washburne, the other successful candidates were about evenly divided between the democrats and republicans. So between the democrats and republicans. Sobetween the democrats and republicans. Socialist Morgan's vote was unexpectedly insignificant, about one-eighth of the number of socialists popularly supposed to be in the city. The figures of the mayoralty candidates, with 433 precincts heard from, were as follows: Hempstead Washburne, 40,002; Cregier, 37,-040; Carter Harrison, 32,818; Elmer Washburne, 19,771; Morgan, 1,636.

According to the Press Association, Hempstead Washburne still has a plurality

Springfield, Ill., April 7.—The republicans of Springfield are jubilant over the defeat of the democrats. The home of Senator Palmer, the city of Springfield, has elected Rheuna T. Lawrence (republican) mayor over Charles E. Hay (democrat) by 200 majority.

The Returns from Michigan. DETROIT, Mich., April 7 .- Returns from esterday's election so far as received, indicate that the republicans have carried the state by about 5,000 plurality. There are many districts still to be heard from, however.

In the municipal elections in the larger cities the democracy held its own and made arge gains. Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Bay City, Lansing, Marshall, Adrian, Monroe Pontiac, Eaton, Rapids, Mason, Hastings, St. Clair, Sault Ste Marie, Marine City, Muskegon, St. Ignace, Manistee, Cheboygan, Ionana and Menominee elect democratic mayors, while the republican candidates were success ful in Battle Creek, Hillsdale, Charlotte, nd Haven, Lapeer, Ypsilanti, Flint Big Rapids, Port Huron, Albion, Jackson, Kalamazoo and Corunna.

The Vote in Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, April 7 .- The election in this state today was for justice of the supreme ourt. The political lines were not drawn. S. U. Pinney was nominated by the convention of lawyers, and E. H. The vote was light, but dispatches to The Sentinel from all parts of the state point to Pinney's election. He carried Milwaukee county by over 3,000. A judge of the superior court was elected in this county. Both candidates were democrats, and with one country town to hear from, it is expected that Austin, the bar candidate, has defeated Ludwig, democratic candidate, by a small majority.

CHICAGO'S CLOSE VOTE. IT IS BAD FOR CAMPBELL. THE GOVERNOR OF OHIO LOSES HIS OWN TOWN

> AND MOREY MAY DISPLACE M'KINLEY. The Battle Between the Parties Regarded as a "Draw," with the Farmers' Alliance

CINCINNATI, O., April 7 .- [Special.]-In most of the towns of Ohio yesterday the contest was on strictly party lines, and the results develop some significant facts, which will have an important bearing on the gubernatorial campaign this fall. Governor Campbell, who hopes to succeed himself, despite the bitter opposition to him among his own party in several of the large cities, suffered a severe setback in the city of Hamilton, where he resides. Hamilton is one of the strongest democratic cities in Ohio, and is usually good for 1,500 majority. Yesterday the republican candidate for mayor was elected by 238 majority. The result is all the more significant because Governor Campbell was on the field of battle, and made a strong personal fight for the democratic candidate, who was also backed by the influence of the city gov-ernment. The defeat of the Campbell candidate will cause a sensation all over the state.

The defeat of the Campbell men in Hamilton is attributed to Captain H. L. Morey, who has just returned from congress, and has gubernatorial aspirations. If McKinley is not the nominee, it is almost certain that Morey will be, and his routing of Campbell will help his canvass immensely. The returns from the state seem to indicate that it was a drawn battle as between the two parties, but the Farmers' Alliance must be taken into the calculation in making estimates for the next contest. While they have been defeated in Cincinnati, the democrats still have made large gains here. The north-west generally shows gains for the democracy, but the western reserve comes out with its oldtime republican majority.

The Cincinnati democrats are still claiming the election of Tafel, their candidate for mayor, while Mosby, his opponent, is elected on the face of the returns by 139. The official count of tomorrow may give Tafel the prize.

Under the new charter the political power of the two parties has been very much cur-tailed, as most of the important boards have been made non-partisan. This will do much to make Hamilton county a doubtful quan-again at the next election, insure the most exciting contest that this state has ever witnessed. As local issues have, to a great extent, been eliminated, the battle will be fought on national questions, and Mr. McKinley will be given the opportunity to test the popularity of himself and his tariff bill before the people of Ohio. The republican leaders realize this, and all their efforts are being directed to make the most they can out of the free sugar feature of the tariff law. The democrats are very anxious to have the tariff the issue, and most of them believe that upon that question they can defeat McKinley.

Where Women Voted. NSAS CITY, Mo., April 7 .- Ele were held in Kansas today in all cities of the first and second classes. Although without general political significance, the results of the election are regarded with considerable interest for two reasons. First, because the Citizens' Alliance has tickets in the field, and is fighting all the old parties. The Citizens' Alliance is really a branch of the Farmers' Alliance. It is organized on the same basis, and has the same objects in view. It is composed of that element in the cities which would join the Farm ers' Alliance but for the fact that the constitution of the latter organization will admit none but farmers. This element has been organized in cities mostly since the Farmers' Alliance landslide last fall, and this election is its first opportunity of showing its strength. Much interest is manife

The other element in the election which at taches interest to it is the fact that women, under the laws of Kansas, are allowed equal suffrage with men in municipal elections.

It has been predicted that, after one or two experiences at the polls, the novelty of the thing would disappear, and with it women's thing would disappear, and with it women's interest in municipal politics.

This prediction has not been fulfilled. On the contrary, women's interest in politics and activity at the polls have increased with each election. The registration of women at the present election exceeded any former registration. In Kansas City, Kas., the jincrease in registration was smaller than in other less metropolitan cities of the state being only 75.

The number of negresses that voted in Kansas City, Kas., was notable. They marched to the polls with as much, if not more, pride as their white sisters, and exercised their right of suffrage with the satisfaction peculiar to their Dispatches from other of the large cities of Enspatches from other of the large cities of Kanasa indicate that the vote of the women, compared to the registration, was proportionate to the male vote. Most of the women had their tickets prepared at home or at the places of meeting, and their presence at the polls was only enough to permit them to deposit their hallots.

Returns from several cities show that the Citizens Alliance did not cut much of a figure in the election, excepting where it endorsed the description of the descript he democratic nominees. In these places they were successful in electing the cratic nominees. Abilene is the only city re porting a Citizens' Alliance victory.

Returns from Leavenworth show that the entire republican ticket has been elected.

This is the first republican victory for six

This is the first republican victory for six years in that vicinity.

In Lawrence the republicans were also successful. They elected their full ticket with the exception of two members of the council elected by the Citizens' Alliance.

At Clay Center, the republicans defeated the Citizens' Alliance, and at Wichita the democrats carried everything.

ANOTHER BIG SCANDAL

Which Is Likely to Rise Up Against the

BALTIMORE, April 7 .- [Special.]-Another ensation was caused at the postoffice today by the sudden appearance, for the second time, of United States Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt with his probe. He came last week to investigate the charges made that the government office had been levying assessm on their subordinates, and of coercing them in order to carry the republican primaries. Those held last Monday were of especial importance, it would seem, in deciding which of the two factions is to control the party affairs here for some time-the administration or the anti-Johnson men. The latter are under the leadership of Henderson, who will be remem-bered as the man who publicly charged Postmaster General Wanamaker with cor-

Postmaster General Wanamaker with corruption.

Last week, as today, the commissioner had the assistance of Charles J. Bonaparte, the president of the reform league, and on both occasions were the deliberations secret. No inkling could be had of what was actually done. Mr. Johnson says, however, that he has Mr. Roosevelt's word that there was no damaging evidence.

It is claimed that last week the charges preferred by one Ashton, a fireman retained in the unclassified service by Johnson, although a Henderson man, were exploded. He was noisy at first, but refused to testify later. Mr. Roosevelt was much interested in his visit last week, and discovered some cases of very offensive partisanship by government employes at the primary election. So much did he learn and so frightened were the local politicians that Postmaster Johnson went over next day to consult Mr. Wanamaker and the true visited. Possident were the local politicians that Postmaster Johnson went over next day to consult Mr. Wanamaker, and the two visited President Harrison, according to The American, to complain against him for intimidating the government employes in the legitimate discharge of their rights as citizens. Their story is that his presence at the polis had the effect of frightening the officials, and they kept carefully at home. The result was that when the conventions were held the Johnson faction had no experienced or skillful politicians to lead them and so, though successful at the polls, was frozen out in the convention. The republicans sneeringly say that the invesat the polls, was frozen out in the convention. The republicans sneeringly say that the investigation is to give Mr. Bonaparte an item and the basis of some strong language for his forthcoming report to the reform league. It is plain that the sudden appearance of Mr. Roosevelt at the republican primary election, and the present investigation, promise to result in proving another scandal on the Harrison administration for using federal patronage and officeholders for the basest of partisan purposes.

THE CZAR IN DANGER.

The Police Arrest a Man, in Close Proximity to the Czar, With Weapons. LONDON, April 8 .- The Telegraph's correspondent at St. Petersburg says: An attempt was made on the czar's life to-day, but was eleverly frustrated. It was a Russian holiday, and, according to custo a type czar and czarina went to review the irr guards at their quarters opposite the palace of Grand Duke Nicholas. Invitations to the ceremony had been sent to an extremely select and limited number of persons.

A man with a sallow complexion and of the outhern type was among those admitted by ticket. He took a place five paces distant from where the czar was to stand. As the man continued to wear his overcoat, he was requested to remove it, but declined on the ground that he was afraid of draughts. His refusal to remove his coat excited suspicion and he was again requested to take it off.

This time he consented and retired to an ante-room. He was immediately arrested and taken to prison, when a revolver and a globule, supposed to contain poison, were found in his possession. His name is Shameikin. He declares that the globule simply contains medicine. The police affect to have known of a plot connected with Gunsberg's conspiracies,

Hid His Stealing. KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 7 .- Horace McKim, who was chief clerk of ex-City Treasurer Peake, who embezzled $23,000 of the city's money, consented today, for the first time, to tell what he knew about the defalcation. He says the shortage began in September, 1889, when Hingston, Peake & Co. failed. The ex-treasurer was a member of that firm, and just before the failure made good out of the city's funds several large checks of the firm which had been dishonored at the bank. Peake was also treasurer of the Central Pres byterian church, and had wrongfully appro oriated about $3,500 of the church's When warrants were drawn on him by the rustees, he would pay them and instruct his clerk to put the warrants into the cash drawer, McKim states that Peake has been attempting to throw the responsibility of the defalcation upon employes of the office, and that he has been assisted in this by the investigating committee of the council. which would not hear his (McKim's) evidence. McKim also claims that the prosecut ing attorney has agreed to nolle prosequi the criminal case against Peake, which comes up for trial in a short time, on the ground of lack of evidence. THE REVOLUTIONISTS GAINING. Balmaceda Is Frightened and Is Recruiting His Army From the Prisons. PANAMA, via Galveston, April 7 .- Passen gers just arrived by steamer from Valparaiso clare that the cause of the revolutionists is making progress. They assert that in the city of Valparaiso the sentiment in favor of the revolutionary party is becoming very strong.

It was pretty generally expected that when they left there that on the arrival of the fleet the troops now adhering to the Balmaceda government would renounce their allegiance and go over to the opposition. It is argued that Balmaceda realizes that his power is waning from the fact that he is recruiting his forces from the prisons. Reports of the loss of life and property resulting from the revolutionary uprising, which have reached the outside world, these passengers declare, have been much exaggerated.

WHILE PEOPLE THOUGHT HE WAS AFTER THE MOTHER. THE LATEST ABOUT PARNELL'S MARRIAGE.

He Is Said to Have Privately Wedded O'Shea's Eldest Daughter, but the Story Is Discredited by His Opponents.

London, April 7 .- The lady to whom Parnell is said to have been privately married since the O'Shea divorce suit is the eldest daughter of Mrs. O'Shea. The extreme privacy with which the ceremony was performed is attributed to the fact that the yo a ward in chancery. Although she is twentyone years of age, the marriage could not be lawfully solemnized without the assent of court, and by his action Mr. Parnell lays himself open to prosecution.

Several Parnellite members of the house of commons affect to believe, although they deny any knowledge of the facts, that Parnell never had unlawful commerce with Mrs. O'Shea, and that his secret visits to the home of the O'Sheas were made for the purpose of meeting the daughter, whom he married with the con-sent of her mother, but unknown to her father. Other Parnellites, who are supposed to know the truth of the matter, when questioned in regard to the marriage, declared their ignorance of the whole affair. Captain O'Shea's friends treat the

T. M. Healy said that Parnell had been reckless enough to stand amid the smouldering runs of his country in order to satisfy his ambition, and that it was impossible to suppose that the extremists, who had always hated him, would continue to support him now unless he was potent enough to destroy the constitutional movement. The meeting adopted a resolution thanking the alectors of adopted a resolution thanking the electors of North Sligo for their decision in the contest between Collery and Valentine Dillon.

JUSTICE STEPHEN RETIRES. An Affecting Scene in the English High

Court of Justice. LONDON, April 7 .- An affecting scene occurred today in the queen's bench division of the high court of justice, upon the retirement of Justice Stephen. It was he before whom Mrs. Maybrick was tried, and the mental strain mined his health, both physical and mental; hence his retirement today. All of Just Stephen's fellow-judges, including the low-chief justice of England, Lord Coleridge, president of the queen's bench division of the high court of justice, were present, standing while Justice Stephen, seated on the cench, replied in a broken, feeble voice, to the high tribute paid to his honor, integrity, ability and past service by Attorney-General Webster. All present were most profoundly impressed and considerable emotion was displayed as Justice Stephen, in low tones, thanked his colleagues for the good feeling shown towards him, and with tears welling in his eyes, as well as in the eyes of many others there, wished them [goodbye and left the bench for the last time. Justice Stephen's wife and other members of his family who were present were overcome with emotion, as the veteran judge expressed his thanks for the kindness which cheered his retirement from the position he had so long

THE POPE PLEASED

At the Result of the Sligo Election-Hi; Sympathy for the Irish People. ROME, April 7 .- At a reception given to the college of cardinals today, at the vatican, his holiness, the pope, asked Archbishop Walsh, who was also present, for news in regard to the situation of the political and religious affairs in Ireland. The pope expressed great satisfaction at the result of the recent ele for a successor to the late Peter McDonald as the representative in parliament of North Sligo, where the Parnellite candidate, Alderman Valentine B. Dillon, of the Rotunda ward, of Dublin, was defeated by the McCarhyite candidate, Alderman Bernard Collery, of Sligo. His holiness spoke with pleasure and admiration of the united action taken by the Irish bishops, and pronounced himself as being in warm sympathy with the Irish peo-ple, adding that he anxiously hoped that the Irish people would maintain confidence in themselves and in their country in spite of the present trials and difficulties to which Ireland and the Irish were unfortunately subjected.

THE GREAT SHOWMAN, AFTER LONG AND USEFUL LIFE.

DIES AT HIS HOME IN BRIDGEPORT After Three Months' Illness-His Travels i the South Before the War-His

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 7 .- The great showman, P. T. Barnum, passed away at 6:22 o'clock this evening in the presence of his grief-stricken family. During the period of Mr. Barnum's invalidism and confinement to the house, which began twenty-one weeks ago last Friday, there have been frequent fluctua condition, from each of which he rallied, although in each instance with slightly lowered vitality.

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, Mr. Barnum sank into a comatose condition, from which it was evident that there would be little hope of his again returning to consciousness. When the end finally came, it was peaceful, and to all appearances painless.

The physicians say that Mr. Barnum had no organic disease whatever, the enfeebled heart action which had been apparent for the past few months being due to the gradual failure of his general mental powers, resulting from old ye. He was above eighty.

Phineas Taylor Barnum was born at Bethel, Conn., July 5, 1810.

After clerking awhile he opened a country store, and made money out of various lottery schemes. In 1829 he became the editor of The Danbury Herald of Freedom.

Moving to New York in 1834 he purchased Joyce Heath, an aged colored woman, for $1,000, and exhibited her as George Washington's nurse. He made $1,500 a night out of the show, and soon had money enough to organize a small traveling company.

With this company some time during the thirties he traveled southward in wagons. At that time there were no railroads and few towns in north Georgia. Following the old Indian roads through Georgia he entered Alabama on his way to Montgomery. One man in the company was very eager to get into a row with the Indians, and his bloodthirsty talk made Barnum resolve to test his courage. The showman took a few members of the company into his confidence, and at a given signal they dashed out from the woods all the glory of red paint, feathers and nkets, brandishing their tomahawks and yelling like madmen.

Just as Barnum expected, the man who was a hunting for a fight put spurs to his horse and fied at lightning speed in the direction of Montgomery. He was finally overtaken, but the adventure mortified him so much that he embraced an early opportunity of leaving the company.

At one place on his southern trip Barnum came near losing his life. He had blacked his face and was taking a negro minstrel part in the performance when he heard a quarrel at the door of the tent. Forgetting his black face, he went out and endeavored to quiet. he went out and endeavored to quiet a drunken white man who was trying to force his way in. The stranger at once drew his pistol, swearing that "no donce drew his pistol, swearing that "nod-d nigger" should talk to him in that style. Nothing but presence of mind and a prompt explanation of the situation saved the manager, and after that when he blacked his face he was careful not to forget his accuracy. careful not to forget his assumed char-

During the first Cleveland campaign he offered to sell out his Connecticut property at 25 cents on the dollar if the democratic candidate was elected. After the election he was challenged to stand by his promise, but he backed out.

His books, "The Life of P. T. Barnum," "Struggles and Triumphs," and "The Humbugs of the World," have been widely read.
Mr. Barnum frequently lectured on temperance and other popular subjects.
He was always a moral man, kind-hearted and the was always a moral man, kind-hearted and charitable, and many of the greatest men of the country were his intimate friends. Several times during his career he was forced to begin life anew without a dollar, but people felt so much confidence in his integrity and ability that they were always glad to help him. Had his energies here directed in other changes he would have been directed in other channels he would have distinguished himself in more useful and re-putable walks of life. As it was, he made

His Views on Temperance.

Hon. P. T. Barnum, who for more than half a century has reigned as king of American showmen, and who lived to the age of eightyone, attached great importance to temperance, as will be seen from his appended observations, recently made:

"I have no doubt that my advanced age and the good health I still enjoy, are due in no small measure to my strict temperance principles, with which my practice perfectly accords. An essential point in living to be very aged is to totally abstain from alcoholic stimulants, tototally abstain from alcoholic stimulants, to-bacco and narcotics. I am perfectly well ac-quainted with the fact that many men who have used whisky and tobacco with modera-tion all their lives have lived to be very old, but such cases are only the exceptions which prove the rule that the use of either alcoholic liquors or tobacco tends to shorten life. Be-tween the years 1837 and 1847 I drank intoxi-cants to superavier. tween the years 1857 and 1841 I drank intoxicants to some extent. During a part of that time I was in England, where the custom of drinking socially was universal, and I found that my desire for stimulants was steadily increasing. At length my craving for them became so great that I saw that liquor would work my ruin unlass I gave it up at once and forever. I did so. less I gave it up at once and forever. I did so, and have been a total abstainer ever since. To that circumstance I largely attribute my having passed, by more than ten years, the period of three score years and ten allotted as the

of three score years and ten allotted as the days of man.

"In addition to being strictly temperate, I have always been cheerful. I once adopted as my family motto the words: "Love God and be merry," and I firmly believe that hie who follows that precept in all that it implies, is pursuing a course well calculated to enable him to live to be silvery old.

"Besides being temperate and trying to love God and be more I bernate and trying to love."

"Besides being temperate and trying to love God and be merry, I have also tried in my humble way to make others happy. That is a wonderful promoter of health and longevity. He who is trying to alleviate life's ills for those around him has no time to become morbid by thinking of those with which he himself has been afflicted.

healthful exercise of all our physical and mental powers unquestionably tends to promote long life. I have always detested idleness, and have always be accomplished in the odds and do of time which most people allow to go en rely to waste. I can say with Cicero that throughout my long life, even my leisure moments have had their occupations.

"I think, then, to sum up briefly, that my having achieved my present advanced age, is due to temperance, cheerfulness, trying to do something to contribute to the enjoyment of others, and constant judicious employment of all my powers of mind and body."

The Greatest on Earth. New York, April 7 .- The death of Barnum not entirely unlooked for, was not in any sense anticipated by his partner, J. A. Bailey. Mr. Barnum, however, realized that at his advanced age (he was over eighty years of age) his demise might occur at almost any time. It was accordingly provided by their articles of agree ment that "in case of the death of either, the show should go on as usual." Mr. Bailey accordingly announces that the show will continue with its policy entirely unchanged. The capital of $3,500,000 will remain intact, and Mr. Bailey will continue to act as manager. For the past dozen years Mr. Bailey has been sole authority in the organization, consulting Mr. Barnum only in great and important matters while he lived.

THE JANUARY INTEREST.

The Augusta, Gibson and Sandersville Rail road Complications.

Augusta, Ga., April 7.-[Special.]-A meethee of the hornholders of the Augusta, Gibson and Sandersville railroad is in session today in New York. The road is still in default about paying the January interest on its bonds, and the meeting today is to try to satisfactorily arrange a settlement for interest. Mr. James Swann returned to New York yesterday. He owns a controlling interest in the road, and it is understood that he will renew his old proposition to the bondholders to issue new 5 per cent bonds, endorsed and guaranteed by Richmond and Danville or the Central Railroad of Georgia, with a bonus in the stock of a new company. Mr. Swann is particularly anxious to widen the gauge of the road and extend the line from Sandersville to Thomas ville. It is said to be very doubtful if the bondholders will accept Mr. Swann's proposition. An Augusta owner of bonds says he will not accept the proposition. Others favor The bondholders are confident that the bonds are worth their face value with deferred interest, if they take hold of the road. If some agreement is not reached today it is thought the bondholders will institute action to get control of the road.

DROPS DEAD WITH HEART DISEASE

NORTH CAROLINA MOURNS HIS LOSS.

The Life and Services of the Distinguished Governor of North Carolina Funeral Arrangements.

RALEIGH, N. C., April 8, 2. am .- [Special.] Daniel G. Fowle, governor of North Carolina, died a few minutes ago of heart

The announcement has created great sorrow in the city. Night though it was, the news spread rapidly, and people came to the governor's mansion in scores to verify what they had heard.

Hon. Daniel G. Fowle was born in the town of Washington, in Beaufort county, North Carolina, on the 3d of March, 1831. At the age of fourteen he was entered at the school of North Caroline's of North Carolina's most celebrated teacher, William Bingham, where he remained until he matriculated at Princeton, New Jersey, at the age of sixteen. While at Princeton he was appointed by the literary society of which he was a member, junior orator, and acquitted himself so well as to call forth a complimentary and particular mention by one of the leading New York dailies. The Hon. Barnes Compton, now a member of congress from Maryland, was a the same time a junior orator appointed by another of the literary societies.

In 1851 he graduated at Princeton, and having studied law under Judge Pearson for two years was admitted to the bar in 1853, and in 1854 settled in Raleigh. In 1856 he married Ellen Brent, daughter of Hon. R. M. Pearson who died in 1862, leaving two children, Margaret, now wife of P. H. Andrews, and Martha, wife of David B. Avera, of Raleigh.

On the surrender of Fort Sumter and the proclamation of Lincoln calling for troops to coerce the seceding states, he volunteered as a private in a company known as the Raleigh Rifles, and upon the organization of the con pany, was elected second lieutenant.

on the organization of the state military department he was appointed major of the commissary department. In the summer of 1861 he resigned his commission, helped to raise the regiment afterwards known as the Thirty-first, was made captain of one of its companies, then lieuten ant colonel of the regiment, and as such served at Fort Hill, in Beaufort county, and at Roanoke Island, where he was captured by Burnside's forces, February 8, 1862, and after a short imprisonment, paroled. October, 1862, he was elected to the house of commons from Wake county, and upon the adjournment of the legislature was appointed adjutant general of North Carolina, with the rank of major general. In the fall of 1863 he resigned this commission. In 1864 he ran for the house of com mons from Wake on the anti-Holden ticket. and was the only one on this ticket who was elected. In 1865, during his absence from home, he was appointed judge of the superior court by Governor Holden, and was by the legislature of 1865-'66 elected to the same office tor life. In November, 1867, he resigned this office rather than obey and en-force the orders of General Sickles, then military governor of Nawband South Carolina de was a democratic candidate for the convention of 1867 and was defeated, but led his ticket b over 100 votes- In 1868 he was chairman of the state democratic committee and threw his whole energy into that campaign. In 1870 he was one of the democratic candidates for th state senate from the counties of Franklin and Wake, reduced the republican majority of 1,200 to 200 and again led his ticket. In 1876 he was democratic elector for the state at large and upon the election of Tilden, so conspicuous and pre-eminent had been his canvass, that the members of the North Carolina elec toral college recommended him to the president and requested that he be appointed attorney general of the United States. In 1880 he was a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor, was defeated by Hon. Thos. J. Jarvis, and during that campaign thoroughly canvassed the state for his late competitor making some sixty speeches in different parts of the state, from the mountain, to the sea. In 1872 he canvassed Chatham, and made speeches in other counties of the state in behalf of the democratic candidate for governor. In 1878 he assisted Hon. W. H. Kitchen in his canvass for congress, making speeches in Scotland Neck, Wilson, Goldsboro and New Berne. In 1884 he was a candidate for the nomination for congress, was defeated by Hon. W. R. Cox, but during that cam paign his eloquent voice was heard in forty or fifty counties of the state, pleading the glorious principles of the cratic party. During the session of the legis lature of 1884 and 1885, all the democratic members of that body united in a petition to President Cleveland requesting him to appoint Judge Fowle solicitor general. In January, 1866, he married Mary E., daughter of Dr. F. J. Haywood, of Raleigh, who died in April, 1886, leaving now surviving her three little children From his early nanhood in 1861 up to the present time, Daniel G. Fowle has ever been a constant earnest, able and effective advocate of civil liberty, good government and that greatest of blessings, the constitution as that greatest of blessings, the constitution as understood and defined by the grand old Ro man, Thomas Jefferson. His moral character was without a blemish. As a soldier he true to his flag, as a legislator he was able and conservative, as a lawyer he stands without a superior, as a judge he was great and pure, and an orna-ment to that bench which had been occupied by such men as Caldwell, Manly, Nash, Pearson, Battle, Ruffin and Badger, and as a political orator none surpassed him. In 1876 he was a Tilden elector. On June 30, 1888, he was nominated for governor by the democratic convention, and has held that office eyer since.

A DISASTROUS COLLISION. The Misplacement of a Switch Does the

Work. SAVANNAH, Ga., April 7.—[Special.]—A collision between the up and down passenger trains on the Central railroad, shortly after 1 o'clock this morning, at Oconee, 140 miles from Savannah, resulted in the injuring of Engineer Thomas J. Cleary and Fireman J. Lee Morgan, of the down train. The collision was caused by the misplacement of a switch. The outward-bound train reached Oconee first, and took the siding THE SWITCH NOT CHANGED. The switch was not changed after the train ran on the rails, and in a few minutes the down train came rushing along the track, and as it reached the switch the engineer was surprised that his engine should as it reached the switch the engineer was surprised that his engine should swing over, and start down the track toward the headlight of the other train. He applied the air pumps, but they would not work, and realizing that a collision was inevitable he reversed his engine and called to Fireman Morgan to jump for his life. Engineer Cleary fell against the rails of the track and was infured about the body and had his left anklo sprained and his right knee and shoulder were dislocated. Fireman Morgan was considerably bruised, but not seriously. Engineer Taylor, of the Atlanta bound train, and his fireman jumped, but struck in the soft sand and escaped injury. The injured engineer and firemen were brought to the city on the down train. Cleary is not dangerously wounded, but it will probably be many weeks before he will be able to resume his duties. Morgan will be around in a few days. Both engines were badly wrecked.

THE PASSENGERS SHAKEN UP.

THE PASSENGERS SHAKEN UP. The passengers on the trains escaped with a fright and a little shaking up. Engineer Cleary said that he tested his air pumps a mile and a half from where the accident occurred, and they worked all right, but when he tried to use them to stop his engine and prevent a collision, they failed utterly.

THE BARON WAS NERVOUS

And Refused to Receive Visitors-Will Sail

Saturday.

New York. April 7.—The Tribune says: Baron Fava, who a few days ago presented his letters of recall as minister tot he United States from Italy, arrived in this city last evening about 10:30 o'clock from Washington. He went directly to the Victoria hotel, where he is in the habit of staying. He did not register, however, and people who called upon him, with the excep-tion of intimate friends, were not received.

The hotel people even refused to send cards up to the baron's room. Baron Fava was nervous and seemed to be depressed, and this may have been his reason for not caring to receive callers. He had been ill recently in Washington. It is understood that he will sail for Italy Saturday, and it was said last night that he would be a and it was said last night that he would be passenger on one of the French steamers.

The Misfortune that Befell Allen Searcy at Macon.

Macon, Ga., April 7.—[Special.]—Allen Searcy is a well-known colored man at Macon, in the employ of the Central railroad, and is the brother of Lou Searcy, the faithful waitress at the union passenger depot in Macon. This morning he had one foot resting on a track in the rear of the depot, and was looking up the track. He did not observe an engine coming from the opposite direction. The engine knocked him down, ran over his right foot and mashed it so terribly that Dr. Howard Williams, the road surgeon, had to cut it off. Williams, the road surgeon, had to cut it off.

THE OPENING OF A GRAVE IN

RECALLS A TERRIBLE INCIDENT.

How a Federal General Satisfied an Enraged People-The Court Martial and the Execution.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 7 .- [Special.]-Workmen excavating for an addition to a building on North Main street in this city

While digging a few feet below the surface, they found a skull and pieces of wood, rotten and with nails in them, presumably part of a coffin. Later in the day another skull and the bones of two persons were dug up. Par-tially preserved shoes and some blue substance, recognized as a part of the union uniform, were mingled with the bor amount of questioning could make the workgrave.

RECALLS A HISTORICAL EVENT. This incident recalls an interesting historical event which occurred in Asheville just

In May, 1865, just six weeks after Lee's sur render, General Tilson, of Maine, came to Asheville, then a town of perhaps 1,500 in-habitants. He had with him and under his command about 4,000 soldiers. General Tilson took up his quarters at the old Patton hor one of the handsomest dwellings here at that time, and now occupied by a prominent club.

THE TERRIBLE CRIME.

That afternoon the One Hundred and Fifth Ohio regiment, composed of negroes, entered the town from Tennessee. After marching through the place they pitched camp in the western suburbs. On the following morning s farmer living a few miles north of here hurriedly entered Asheville und went to the mayor, reporting to that official that a young white girl of a highly respectable family had been assaulted by some of the negro soldiers

The report was confirmed when, a few hours later, the father of the unfortunate young lady came to the town and gave the facts. The soldiers of the colored regiment had camped near his house the night before, and five of the negroes had gone back to his house, and eating him and his wife into insensibility, had accomplished their purpose.

When the facts were made known to General Tilson he caused the colored regiment to be drawn up in line. The girl's father then passed down the column. On close scruting he soon recognized one of the villains, and soon picked out the other four of them. When the trial by court martial came off in the afternoon one of the prisoners, hoping by that neans to escape punishment, turned state's evidence. The four remaining prisoners were convicted on the evidence of the parents, the neighbors and their partner in crime. The four wretches were sentenced to be shot the next day. They were taken to the county jail for sale-keeping, in company with the one who lad testified against them.

THE PENALTY PAID. The next morning the doomed men were aken from their cells and placed in a wagon. Accompanied by their regiment they were driven to the northern outskirts of the town, where an immense crowd had assembled to witness the execution. The regiment formed a hollow half square facing the empty graves prepared for the men, and a file of eighteen soldiers, selected for the purpose, was drawn up immediately in front of and facing the con demned men. The hands of the prisoners were tied to gether in front of them and their eves were andaged. They were then forced to take their seats on their coffins, rude nine boxes each one large enough for two men, and the burial service was read by the Methodist circuit rider, Rev. A. W. Cummings. The death warrant was then read and the command to fire was given by an officer. The four mer fell dead on their coffins, each one having four or five bullets in his body. They were buried immediately, two in a box, and it was one of these graves that was disturbed by the la-

THE INFORMER LYNCHED. The prisoner who had turned state's evidence, it was thought, had expected to be reased, but the body of a negro supposed to be his, was found near the scene of the execution on the morning following. It was conjectured that he had been taken from the jail by the union soldiers and lynched.

Judge E. J. Aston, a prominent figure of the present day, was mayor of the town at the time, and furnished your correspondent with the story of the execution

WEDDING BELLS.

THE MARRIAGE OF MISS KIMBALL

to Marry in Rochester. This evening at 8 o'clock the first large Easter wedding will occur at the First Methodist church, when Miss Nellie Kimball will be married to Mr. Will Murdock, of Birmingham. Extensive preparations have been made for the occasion. The wedding will be a pink one, all the bridsmaids wearing pink gowns and carrying La France roses. The bride's gown is one of the most elegant ever worn upon such an occasion. The church will be beautifully adorned in rose-colored blossoms, and the altar illuminated with many pink tapers and pedestal lamps with pink shades. The music will be one of the most impressive features. Mrs. Arthur Richards is the organist, and her magnificent playing will be heard to the greatest advantage in the beautiful selections chosen. The following is the musical programme:

Mrs. Arthur Richards, Organist.

Mrs. Grant Wilkins has issued invitations for a progressive euchre party, to be given this evening, in honor of Miss Daisy Neely, of Memphis. The entertainment will be a delightful one, composed entirely of the unmarried belies and beaux of society.

One of the prettiest Easter gowns of the season is worn by a young and brilliantly pretty matron, well known in social life for her delightful musical gifts and other charming characteristics. The gown is of soft gray Bedford cord with a plain demi-trained skirt. The long coat has a plcated vest, and the sleeves have high puffs and deep-wrinkled cuffs of velvet.

The shoes and gloves are gray undressed kid, and the tiny toque is formed of a twisted band of velvet, a crown of silver-embroidered gray lisse, and in the back a big velvet bow and white aigrettes.

Miss Daisy Neely has the rare gift of dressing and carrying her clothes to perfection. Her toilets, each one an ideal affair for the occasion when worn, have been the admiration of her fashionable set at private affairs and of all the people present on the occasions when she has graced the theaters. One of her gowns at the last named place was of white broadcloth, trimmed with gold braid. The cape was an exquisite thing, with the body part and collar richly braided in fine gold braid. The hat was broadbrimmed and adorned with many snowy tips, and the shoes and gloves were white undressed kid. A gown worn at the Easter cotillion was an exquisite specimen of the art of a great Parisian modiste. It was of moonlight blue silk, with many skirts of lisse, and the front sprinkled with knots of violets which showed delicately blue knots of violets which showed delicately blue beneath the misty over-drapery.

Invitations are out to a euchre party to be given by Miss Harwood and Miss Fanny Harwood, at their elegant home, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A very delightful meeting of the Utopian club was held Monday evening at Mrs. Bowdon's on Capitol avenue. The programme for the evening, under the charge of Anna Ebert was as beautiful as it wa unique. After some music and a few choice recitations, the folding doors drew apart to disclose a number of the young members of the society dressed to represent different characters from history or ro-mance. Each character stepped forward one at a time, and recited some verse or line suggestive of or taken from the characters they portrayed. It was very charming and greatly enjoyed by all first counting the cost the raw material and

MORE WORK FUR JUMBO.

AN ORDINANCE TO KEEP BOYS FROM CIGARETTES.

They Will Be Arrested if It Becomes a Law. The Houses to Be Renumbered. Through the City Hall.

The cigarette must go. Or the Atlanta boys must pay for smoking

So says an ordinance by Mr. Woodward upon which the general council is now working. The ordinance provides that after the 1st of May next it shall be unlawful for any mino to smoke a cigarette within the corporate limits of Atlanta. It also makes it an offense subject to a fine of $25 or twenty-five days upon the public works for anyone to sell, give or furnish in any way cigarettes to minors

The paper imposes a penalty upon any boy who may be detected smoking a cigarette anywhere in the city limits. It also declares that a boy securing cigarettes from a dealer by rep-resenting that he is of age, shall be subject to

Just what the council will do with the paper cannot be predicted. It has friends in the body, however, who will do all they can to secure its passage. One of the most zealous friends of the measure, Mr. Shropshire, remarked yesterday:

"I think the ordinance eminently correct, and I shall give Mr. Woodward my earnest it adoption. I would like, suppost in securing its adoption. I would like, however, to see some changes."

"What changes would you suggest?"

"The latitude is too great. Some parents permit their sons to smoke the poisonous weed, and I doubt whether we could reach them when they smoke at their homes or in their "Then you would—"

"I would change the ordinance so as to pro-hibit the smoking in the streets, alleys and public places of the city. True, 'twould give Jumbo Hunter more work, but it would be Mr. Woodward, who introduced the ordinance, is an enthusiast about it.

"The smoking," said he yesterday, "is one of the most pernicious habits in the world and should be stopped."

"But the state law against the sale to minors doesn't stop it," was suggested.

minors doesn't stop it," was suggested.

"Because no one tries to enforce it," he answered. "This law brings it home to our police force and gives us power to test it. The cigarettes are polsonous. They are strongly impregnated with an opiate, and the habit, when once acquired, is the hardest thing in the world to break."

The City's Light Plant.

Mayor Pro Tem. Middlebrooks wants the city to own an electric light plant of its own. And he may succeed.

Several weeks ago the mayor pro tem. brought the matter before the general council, and it was referred to the committee on electric lights. That committee has given the matter a careful consideration, and is now perfecting a plan by which Mayor Pro Tem. Middlebrooks's wishes may be carried out. In the meantime bids for electric lights on the streets will be asked for, the contract to end when the city has completed its own works, or before.

To Pave Church Street. To Pave Church Street.

To Pave Church Street.

Mr. Rice's efforts to secure the paving of Church street with belgian blocks has been productive of good.

The work may be done yet.

"No street in the city," said Mr. Turner, the new member from the aixth, "needs the blocks more than Church street. Today the fifth ward is with Mr. Rice, and is demanding the names of those who voted for and against the ordinance. During this week or next there will be a meeting in that ward, and the general council at its next meeting will be asked to reconsider its recent action and to authorize the paving."

The councilmen who voted for the ordinance were Hulsey, Murphy, Lambert, Turner, King and Holforock—6.

Those who voted against it were Kinyon,

Those who voted against it were Kinyon, Tye, McBride, Sawtell, Broyles and Hendrix—6. Mayor Pro Tem. Middlebrooks cast his vote against the ordinance, and it died.

To Renumber Houses. The aldermanic board is now digesting Mr. Hutchison's ordinance requiring the renumbering of houses.

The paper presents the plan outlined in The Constitution several weeks ago, and will be put in force after Thursday next, if the board of aldermen concurs in it.

The Public Scales. One by one Atlanta is acquiring conven-tences for the poor.

The public scales is the latest.

Two sets are to be provided. One set goes on the north side, near the artesian well, and the other on the south side in the vacant space or alleyway around the Fulton county house. The two sets are to cost $350. No More Private Detectives.

Atlanta is to have no more private detectives.

Mr. King has given the business a death

"They are prohibited," says he, "by the laws of our state, and the ordinance I championed Monday provides that no license for conducting a private detective agency shall hereafter be issued unless recommended by the board of police commissioners."
"But suppose the police board sees fit to license an agency, then what?"
"If the board sees fit to issue such a license, the licensee shall take the oath of a city detective and be subject to police supervision. However, a fine not exceeding $500 and imprisonment not exceeding thirty days are proprisonment not exceeding thirty days are pro-vided for those who conduct a private detect-ive office without a license." More Bridge Work.

The Jones avenue bridge is to be widened

The Jones avenue bridge is to be widened and strengthened.

The bridge committee is in earnest about it.

"The committee," said Mr. McBride yesterday, "has determined that the Western and Atlantic railroad and the Georgia Pacific railroad shall make the bridge the full width of the street. Mayor Hemphill has been requested to serve the railroad companies with the proper instruction to do the work and at the same time he will direct the Georgia Pacific to make the abutument on the Pacific to make the abutment on the west end of the bridge secure."

The Sun's Cotton Review. YORK, April 7 .- Futures opened a little from in response to a pretty smart improvement in the Liverpool market, where the frost accounts from the south, if not making any serious impression, were at least sufficient to alarm the more timid bears and lead to some buying to cover contracts. But the warmer weather today, and the prospect of a further improvement during the re-mainder of the month, together with the rela-tively larger receipts at the ports, quite discour-aged the bulls, and the early advance was not only lost, but there was some further decline. Spot cotton was more active.

Rapid Transit for Atlanta.

With the coming of pleasant weather, the people of Atlanta and its suburbs may reasonably hope to see some definite movement made in fulfillment of the promise of rapid transit.

Not very long ago we had the pleasure of announcing that the street railway system of Atlanta had been acquired by a number of capitalists who would lose no time in making sweeping improvements on all the most important lines. We were authorized to make these statements by those who were intimately acquainted with the purposes of the new company.

Whatever designs this new company may have had were cut short by the extraordi nary spell of weather which this portion of the state has experienced. It is to be hoped, however, that the new company has made all the arrangements necessary for beginning work so soon as good weather shall intervene. The demands of the people in this matter are imperative, and anything that squints in the direction of unnecessary delay will result in the building of independent and competing lines.

State Rights Again.

Many of our muddled republican contemporaries in the north have an idea that a state is of no more consequence than a county, and that it ought to be wiped out at the pleasure of the federal government.

The Albany, New York, Express is on this line, as the following remarkable editorial will plainly show:

Mr. Blaine, to his humiliation, is obliged to cor fess that when Governor Nicholis tells him that the New Orleans affair is something with which the federal government should not interfere—why, theifederal government must stand aside.

state rights. It proves that the old feeling still prevails—that the sentiment which once plunged the country into a terrible war exists, and may yet bring unnumbered evils upon the land.

Since this government was established this per-nicious doctrine has exerted its baleful influence, and once again, in a most significant manner, the people of the United States are brought face to face with it.

The case is one to excite the most serious rice case is one to excite the most serious cought of patriotic Americans.

The New York Sun replies to The Express in fine style. It takes the position outlined by THE CONSTITUTION the other day, that it is well to have states with spirit enough to maintain the rights of their citirights is the foundation of the constitution. and the protection of local autonomy against the despotism of centralization. The Sun goes on to sav:

A fine government this would be if the federal power could reach into every state to remove from local jurisdiction and try with its own juries and courts persons charged with violation of the law of the state. Such a condition of things might be convenient for foreign nations, but it would be the death of American self-government. Thus far shalt thou go and no farther, the constitution of the United says to the federal government. If the force, the limitations upon the province of the central government would be removed, state lines ould be wiped out, and the government, with its st standing army of placemen, would become

The republican conspirators against the overnment should call a halt. Their force bill is dead. The sectional hate back of it is dead. It is time for all Americans to recognize the fact that this is an indestructible union of indestructible states.

A Northern Negro Problem.

Some movement-perhaps in the nature of rapid evolution-is going on in the office of The Philadelphia Press. We observe, with an astonishment tempered by experience, that the acting editor of our Philadelphia contemporary (in the absence of Mr. Charles Emory Smith) is willing to admit that the right of the negro to work "is just as important, and, in some respects, it is more important, than the right to vote."

This is, indeed, a wonderful change. We had supposed that all loyal republicans were of the opinion that the right to vote is much more important than the right to work; for we have frequently observed, with mingled pain and indignation, that the republican editors of the country have been insisting, with practical unanimity, that the whole negro problem lies in the question whether the negroes of the south shall vote, whether they wish to or not. This has been the chief matter of discussion, and the re publican editors have raised considerable dust over it, first and last.

But now there is another branch of the negro problem. "The negro," says The Press, "is deprived of this right to work in scores of callings by public prejudice, by organized opposition to his employment, and by the cowardice of employers." Where is the site and center of this purpose to deny the industrial right of the negro-the right to earn his living in the way best suited to his capacity? It is certainly not in the where every trade and calling is open to the industrious colored. No; The Press admits that the trouble is at the north, where public sentiment is so poisoned against the negro that he is driven out o every employment and cannng, carry mental and the least lucrative. This sort of thing is happening every day, and has been happening for twenty-five years in the great republican north, the seat of civilization, learning and philanthropy—the great republican north, which has been trying to bring the south under negro domina tion, while denying to the negroes in its own border the right to earn their living.

Even The Press - rampant republican organ-declares that in the north "the thorniest of all paths for the negro is the right to earn an honest living." And this path, The Press goes on to say, is narrower in Philadelphia today than it was fifty years

After awhile, perhaps, the great, philanthropic north will turn to and solve its own negro problem. It is more pressing and nore important than the right of the negro

The Death of General Gartrell. In the death of General Lucius J. Gartrell the south loses one of her most distinguished sons.

As a lawyer he took the front rank, having that rare gift of eloquence which made him a matchless advocate in causes where human life was at stake. He had a high sense of the dignity of the profession which he lived to adorn.

General Gartrell won renown as a mem ber of congress at a period when that body was composed of able men. The convictions which he promulgated in debate he afterward gallantly defended in war.

An upright citizen, illustrating the qualities of true patriotism, the name of General Gartrell will be fondly remembered.

A Noble Work.

The Ladies' Memorial Association has done so much, and asked for so little outside aid, in its noble work of caring for the confederate dead that, when our citizens see an opportunity that will enable them to help he society, they will not neglect it.

It is the intention of the association to rect at Oakland in the two squares devoted to the confederate dead two marble monuments, to the known and unknown dead. on which will be engraved the names of the veterans who sleep there, "on Fame's eternal camping ground."

Sympathizing with the patriotic object of our ladies, President Clement, of the Georgia Marble Company, and Patterson & Brothers, of this city, have made liberal donations of material and work, so that the cost of the monuments will be reduced about one half. Still, the sum of $1,000 will be needed to complete the work, and the association believes that the money can easily be raised in small subscriptions.

We know of no better way to perpetuate the names of these heroes of the lost cause than the one suggested. These monuments are not designed merely to ornament and beautify the cemetery. Their record of names will make them forever a part of our history, a sculptural directory that will point strangers to the graves of their loved ones. The money needed by the association will be gladly contributed by our people. Donations left at THE CONSTITUTION office for this fund will be promptly acknowledged.

The Resignation of Senator Edmunds. Senator Edmunds will no longer pose as the St. Jerome of the United States senate. from which body he resigned yesterday. He will most likely transfer that visage to the United States supreme court.

It is difficult to describe the character of Mr. Edmunds. His long service in the senate, and his undoubted ability entitle him to consideration. He had the merit of properly appreciating the buncombe upon which his party lived, and in private conversation was as intense in his denunciation of it as any democrat could be. Yet when the roll was called he voted for every infamy which he denounced in private. He had one code of morals for private life, and quite a different one for political life. He was a slave of zens, and declares that the doctrine of state | the caucus, whose dictates he never had the

There have been opportunities when Edmunds might have rivaled Jefferson and Webster, but the fetich of the caucus unnerved him, and he will be chiefly remembered for what he "might have been."

Our Terrible Visitor.

The grip this winter has numbered more rictims, and filled more graves, in this country than the cholera, yellow fever or any other plague ever rolled up in its mortuary

After its disastrous ravages in the south and southwest the disease struck the northern half of the union, and is carrying death in its march. In Chicago it has killed at the rate of 52.7 per 1,000, and the authorities have been urged to fire cannon and build bonfires to purify the atmosphere.

New York has had 196 policemen down with the malady, Cincinnati has had about 15,000 cases, and Pittsburg has suffered

In New York the doctors agree with the physicians of Edinburg that there is an intimate relation between this epidemic and melancholia, a form of insanity. The disease affects the mind and the nerves. The mental excitement sometimes resembles that produced by alcohol. There are hallucinations, and occasionally temporary or permanent insanity. Dr. Spitza is not willing to admit what is said about insanity, but he finds in those who recover from the grip morbid fears, loss of will power, and wha is called anxious melancholia. He is confident that these disorders are curable. But the people in New York believe that the grip frequently runs into insanity, and naturally they are in a panicky condition that increases their danger. It is to be hoped that this plague will not be an annual visitor. At present medical science is hardly equal to the task of successfully com-

Several years after the death of Hamilton—killed by Burr in a duel— Burr visited Boston, and Mr. Devereux, of Salem, paid him some attentions. The visiton was taken to the Boston Athenæum, where, while the two men were walking through a gallery of sculpture, Mr. Deve-reux happened to catch sight of a bust of Hamilton. The Lumpkin Independent has reduced its subscription price from $1.50 to $1, and subscribers are coming in by the hundreds.

There is one editor in Georgia who is not troubled with the problem of hard times, and his name is McNelley, of The Dahlonega Nugget. He was in this city yesterday, in company with a gold bar from his mine in Lumpkin county. It is said that there is nothing small about a Georgia girl's thouth. A certain young lady from Georgia has given us the following dimensions: 4x3 inches in repose; 5x5 when laughing at the imperfections of other girls, and at oyster suppers and ice cream saloons a little larger than a young man's salary. AND ELECTS ANOTHER DELEGATE TO THE ALLIANCE CONVENTION.

Hon. R. H. Jackson, of Heard, Displaced and Mr. William Hogan Chosen in Ris Place as a Delegate.

HOGANSVILLE, Ga., April 7 .- [Special.]-News has reached here of quite an interesting incident at the last meeting of the Heard County Alliance, in which the two elements of the alliance had quite a clash, but it proved that it was entirely a one-sided affair, and the alliance, by a unanimous vote, elected Will tion in place of Hon. R. H. Jackson, who was elected a delegate last January.

At the time of the January convention the month on account of the caucus at the executive mansion had not begun. The alliance men, generally, thought that there would probably be no trouble at the state alliance convention, and that everything would be smooth sailing. There was, therefore, little or no contest at the January convention of the county alliance for the election of the delegate from Heard county.

However, after the caucus at the governor's nansion discontent began to manifest itself among the alliancemen in the county at the former choice of the convention in the selection of a delegate from the county. Reports came that State Secretary Burks and those in terested with him had been at work for some time in arranging suitable delegates to convention from all parts of the state.

An effort was at ouce put on foot to change Heard's delegate on the ground that ex-Presi dent Jackson was not in full sympathy with the leaders of the alliance and its organ, and the alliancemen of the county were anxious to

GATHERED AT RANDOM.

The Knights Templar of Georgia are looking forward with great interest to the coming, at some time in the near fature, of General J. P. S. Gobin, grand master of the Knights Templar for the United States of America. Grand Commander Howard, of Georgia, has received information concerning the contemplated tour through the south of General Gobin, who will be accompanied by Past Master Hopkins and other distinguished knights. The grand commandery of Georgia, has made extentensive preparations to receive these distinguished vis-itors, and are holding themselves in readiness to meet their guests at the state line whenever they may come. A grand reception will be tendered General Gobin and his distinguished their high rank.

It was expected that he would have come to Georgia by this time, but his duties as a member of the Pennsylvania senate have prevented General Gobin leaving Harrisburg. of the delay he has been requested, if it suits his convenience, to come at the time of the annual conclave at Macon on May 6th.

"That conclave," said Grand Commander Howard, yesterday, "will be one of the most largely attended and most important ever held in the state. An inter esting feature will be the prize drill for the prize offered by Past Grand Commander Thomas J. Ballentyne, of Savannah. Several commanderies will contest and the drill be an interesting one. If General Gobin and his party are there, it will be a doubly inter esting session.'

Colonel Howard left last night for a visit to Columbus, Americus, Macon, and Barnesville commanderies.

The handsomest offices in the city are those of Bruce & Morgan, the architects, in the Gould building. The rooms have recently been refitted throughout, the walls have been beautifully frescoed by Sheridan and everything there has an appearance of elegeance that is hard to find in business offices We came to the conclusion that as we spend nine-tenths of our waking hours here, we might as well have it looking decent as

GOSSIP IN THE STATE.

The Savannah Times has a word of encourage ment for would-be suicides. It has discovered that there is no law in Georgia under which a mar who attempts to commit suicide can be punished The Times cheerfully adds:

The Times cheerfully adds:
Some persons seem to labor under the idea that a law similar to that of New York existed here, and that a man who attempted suicide could be indicted, tried for felony and, if convicted, sent to the penitentiary for a number of years. There is nothing in the Georgia code, however, on which to base this idea. Georgia's legislators have not yet legislated against suicide, and the man who feels tempted to take his life can do so with the knowledge that if he doesn't succeed, imprisonment will dot be added to his mortification when he finds how the public regards his action.

The work of development in Bartow goes bravely on. For reasons of his own Mr. Sam E. Whitmire has tendered his resignation as editor of The Brunswick Daily Times. The rumors of a change in the management of the paper were given in a dispatch to THE CONSTITUTION a few days ago. A correspondent, writing from Brunswick to Ma correspondent, writing from Brunswick to Macou, says that rumors are being circulated as to the cause of the proposed change in the editorship of The Times, the most probable of which is that Rev. McK. F. McCook, formerly paster of the Methodist church in Brunswick, later paster of Methodist church in Brunswick, later pastor of the Vineville church, Macon, has, on account of failing health, retired from the pulpit He numbers his Brunswick friends by scores, among them several directors of The Times. They wanted him to return to Branswick and as an inducement The Times' directors offere him the editorship of their paper. The salary they wanted to pay, however, would not warrant Mr. McCook's coming, and an extra amount was expected to be secured by giving him the secre-taryship of the board or trade, The Times' directors presuming that the present efficient sec-retary, Captain J. S. Thomas, would resign But others, learning of Captain Thomas's probabl action, decided they would also like the position which pays about $50 per month, and they began canvassing among the board of trade directors. To cap the whole matter, Captain Thomas finally decided not to resign, and all the plans burst The people now want to know what effect Captain Thomas's action will have on The Times' directors whether they will increase their bid for Mr. Mc Cook's services and accept Whitmire's resignation, or let the paper continue with its presen

We met last week, while in the city, Mr. H. P. Ivey, of Gwinnett county, who is now seventy-two years of age. Mr. Ivey told us that he settled in Atlants, or where Atlanta now is, in 1833, and at that time it was a cane thicket in places—that he helped to build the first log house built on the grounds now covered by the city. That his son, B. S. Ivey, now in the employ of the State road, was the first child born in the city limits. Mr. Ivey stated that about the carshed was not a marshy, wet place, as has been stated. Mr. Ivey left the city in 1862—was there all the time of its occupation by the federal soldiers, and did not appreciate their ways, especially General Sherman, their leader. Said he had seen many false statements about the city in its infancy. The place was first called, said Mr. Ivey, Terminus, when it was the terminus of the Georgia railroad, and next Marthasville, for Judge Lumpkin's daughter, and then Atlants, by its railroad connection with the extract:

Something About Old Coins. AMERICUS, Ga., April 7.—Editor Constitution—Dear Sir: The "curious coins" spoken of in Sunday's Constitution by the centleman swriting from Dalton, Ga., are familiarly known to the many coin collectors in the United States as "territorial coins." They were "struck" from the year 1848 to 1861, and were furnished from California. Itah Colorado Orecado were "struck" from the year 1885 to 1801, and were furnished from California, Utah, Colorado, Oregon and North Carolina. The "Bechtler gold pieces" are in §1, $2.50 and $5 denominations, of which there is about "twelve varieties." They are not so rare as is supposed. I have seen several of them in this city. California furnished the largest number and varieties in territorial coins varying from 25 cents in gold to $50. Some of these pieces are very rare and valuable. All of the coins in question originated in the mining districts, and having passed through the United States assay offices, were accepted in payment for most any kind of debt, and good enough money for anybody in those days. The rarest specimens are in possession of the large coin collectors and dealers; the others are scattered in different parts of the union. The gold used in their composition is of course the very finest. They are worth keeping. Yours truly, "A COLLECTOR."

THE DEADLY DRAUGHT.

CHARLES NEVILLE, & YOUNG FIRE-MAN, COMMITS SUICIDE.

Drops an Eighth of an Ounce of Mor-phine Into a Glass of Soda Water and Drinks It Down.

About 7:15 o'clock last evening two young men entered Jacobs's drug store at the corner of Peachtree and Marietta streets. There was nothing particularly noticeable in the appearance or behavior of the young men and the crowd that filled the store and clus-tered about the door paid no attention to them. The young men stepped up to the soda fount and ordered two glasses of soda water. Foster Howell, who presides at the fount, at the moment was filling one of the extract re-ceptacles, but stopped to set out a glass of eptacles, but stopped to set out a grass of lemon" and another glass of "vanilla."

After drawing the soda water Mr. Howell turned his back on the two young men to finish his interrupted task.

A moment the two glasses of soda water sat on the marble counter. Then as one of the young men raised his to his lips, the other quickly drew the cork out of a wide-mouthed bottle with his pocket knife, and holding the oottle in his hand, so that the contents could not be seen by the bystanders, emptied a quantity of white powder into the glass of soda wate before him.

This was the work of an instant. In another instant the young man had drunk the delicious beverage with its load of death, DRANK THE FATAL GLASS.

"There!" he exclaimed as he drained the last drop, and placed the glass upon the last drop, and placed the glass upon the counter.

"Morphine! Morphine! I've ended it!"

Then for the first time he loosened his grasp about the bottle. Throwing it upon the counter before the eyes of the astonished bytanders, he exclaimed:
"I'll be a dead man in an hour."

"I'll be a dead man in an nour."

The moment the second young man saw the bottle he turned hastily and left the store, while he that had drunk the poisoned draught paid for the two glasses of soda, and, deliberately shutting up the penknife with which he hak opened the bottle, walked out upon the street.

Mr. Venable, proprietor of the fount, when he heard the young man's exclamation, which created a flurry of excitement throughout the store and on the sidewalk, hastily went in search of an officer.

In a few moments Mr. Venable found Patrolman Looney at the National hotel, but when he reached the drug store, the young man had gone.

The officer followed on up Marietta street, stopping in several places in search of the young man. Finally he overtook him in Folsom's restaurant.

When the officer took charge of him he was head to be officer took the effects of the

When the officer took charge of him he was already beginning to feel the effects of the eighth of an ounce of morphine which he had emptied from the bottle into the soda water, and was greatly frightened.

A DOCTOR—QUICK!

"Get me a doctor, quick! quick!" he begged, as the officer half dragged him to the signal station, where the patrol wagon was sent for.

"Morphine! Morphine!" he cried. "Get me a doctor quick, or I shall die before he comes."

When the patrol wagon arrived and the young man was put in to be taken to the sta-tion house, a large crowd had gathered and when the wagon started off the crowd

The affair created a sensation and was soon the topic of general conversation.

At the station house the young man was searched. On his person were found several letters and papers.

He was not identified until his name was He was not identified until his name was discovered upon a receipt. The receipt was to C. W. Neville from the Railway Officials' and Engineers' Accident Association. It was for $7.50 dues for membership in that order.

Another letter was from the young man's brother in Clarkesdale, Miss., and had for its subject some presents which the two were going to make to their sister Nettie, who lives at Kingston.

While he was coming Neville was put in a cell to avoid the crowd.

When the doctor arrived Neville was unconscious and sinking rapidly.

Antidotes were applied, and when a party of the young man's friends came in and asked to be allowed to remove him to his boarding house on Bartow street, the request was granted by the officer. Neville was placed in the patrol wagon, and, accompanied by his friends, was starting toward his boarding house.

house, but later removed to the undertaking establishment of Wylie & Barclay.

WHO HE WAS.

C. W. Neville was between twenty-five and thirty years of age. He had been a fireman on the Western and Atlantic road for a long time, and was very popular among his friends.

His home was at Kingston, where he has a sister living. His two brothers are engineers on the East Tennessee road.

He was unmarried, and had been boarding at the Bartow street house several months.

What could have prompted him to suicide is a mystery to his friends and the authorities. So far as is known he was a sober man. He took a drink occasionally, and had had a drink or two yesterday, though friends who were with him shortly before he took the fatal draught, are positive he was not even slightly intoxicated.

For two days past Neville has been laid over in Atlanta, on account of the lightness of the freight traffic on the road.

Several years ago he was injured in a wreck, and so badly hurt, in fact, that he was laid out for dead, but afterwards revived.

The name of the young man who went into Jacobs's drug store with Neville and drank soda water with him has not yet been learned. Telegrams were sent to the young man's sister at Kingston and to his brother also.

Yesterday Neville attended a meeting of the Brotherdood of Locomotive Firemen, of which organization he was a member in good standing.

which organization he was a member in good standing.

A clause in the rules of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen provides that benefits will not be paid in case of suicide. Officer Looney states that Neville remarked when he arrested him that he had taken the morphine wanted that as a medicine.

When he was being locked up at the station house Neville, in a half dazed way, remarked that he wanted to make a statement explainine why he had taken the poison.

But he went no further, and the cause of his rash death will probably remain a mystery.

After he had been locked in the cell he renewed his desire to make a statement to the janitor, but no attention was paid to it, there being at that time some doubt as to whether he had really taken morphine, his actions being so much like those of a drunken man.

A Policeman Killed and a Tough Laid

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 7 .- [Special.]-At Blocton, early this morning, Marshal Ander-son and Policeman Albert Woods made a raid on a negro crap-shooting den. As they entered, Charlie Dansby, a negro tough, shot Woods through the heart, killing him instantly. A pitched battle ensued between Anderson and the other toughs, in which he killed one. The others escaped.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 7.—It is understood that a number of men, who have heretofore conducted poolrooms in this city, will open a room on the Memphis races and endeavor to make books, the object being to test the constitutionality of the act recently passed by the general assembly, confining all betting on races to tracks on which the races are in progress. The old law gave the pool men the right to open books at any place on races run in the state, but the new law gives them no such right.

A question of interest to everybody. A question of interest to everybody.

A little reflection is all that is needed to convince anyone that the question of "How to Buy Groceries?" is one of importance to everyone; for eating is one of the necessities of life, and a good, well-filled table its greatest luxury. Now in answering this question, the first requisite should be pure, fresh goods. Go to some store where everything is kept clean and neat, and where you are sure of getting fresh goods.

Surely if there is anything that we should be careful about, it is that everything that we eat should be of the best quality and absolutely pure and fresh.

and fresh.

Now we claim to handle only the very best quality of everything, and our large trade, which is constantly on the increase, insures freshness.

Besides, our store and our goods are kept scrupulously clean. Everything that dust can injure is kept under glass, and we invite all to come and inspect our stock of pure, fresh, clean and first-class groceries.

inspect our stock of pure, fresh, clean and first-class groceries.

The next requisite in buying groceries is price.
Today a lady, while buying a bill, remarked:
"Why Mr. Hoyt, I just paid 20jeents for Windham corn and you only charge me 15 cents," On being priced Rijamo coffee, she said that she had always paid 40 cents for coffee until she bought always paid 40 cents for coffee until she bought ours and that ours was better. Another lady bought just then some of our fine Jersey butter at 35 cents, remarking that it was the best she could find and 5 cents per pound cheaper than any other. And we could go on through our stock convincing you both of the quality and cheapness of our goods, but the above will suffice.

The next item in buying groceries is variety You want to trade where you can find all you want Now it is;conceded by all that we carry the most complete line of everything to eat that can be found anywhere.

They Will Come from Chattanooga to At-lanta by the Western and Atlantic, and Will Leave the Same Night.

President Harrison and party will be in Atlanta on the 15th.

They reach here from Chattanooga over the Western and Atlantic about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and leave by way of Birmingham for San Francisco the same evening.

A telegram making these arrangements was received yesterday by General Passenger Agent C. E. Harman, of the Western and Atlantic.

The train in which the president and his party will travel is composed of one Pull-man combination smoking car, one dining car, one compartment sleeping car and one composite observation sleeping car.

The distinguished party will consist of not more than fifteen persons.

The run from Chattanooga to Atlanta will be made in about five hours, leisurely following the route of Sherman's march to At lanta, with opportunity of becoming acquainted with the battlefields along the road-Chickamauga, Resaca, Rocky Face, Allatoona. THE DEADLY DRAUGHT. CHARLES NEVILLE, & YOUNG FIRE-MAN, COMMITS SUICIDE.

Drops an Eighth of an Ounce of Morphine Into a Glass of Soda Water and Drinks It Down

About 7:15 o'clock last evening two young men entered Jacobs's drug store at the corner of Peachtree and Marietta streets. There was nothing particularly noticeable in the appearance or behavior of the young men and the crowd that filled the store and clusared about the door paid no attention to them The young men stepped up to the soda fount and ordered two glasses of soda water. Foster Howell, who presides at the fount. at

A moment the two glasses of soda water sat on the marble counter. Then as one of the young men raised his to his lips, the other quickly drew the cork out of a wide-mouthed bottle in his hand, so that the contents could not

This was the work of an instant. In another instant the young man had drunk the delicious beverage with its load of death, DRANK THE FATAL GLASS.

"There!" he exclaimed as he drained the last drop, and placed the glass upon the counter.

"Morphine! Morphine! I've ended it!" Then for the first time he loosened his grasp about the bottle. Throwing it upon the counter before the eyes of the astonished bystanders, he exclaimed:

"I'll be a dead man in an hour."

The moment the second young man saw the bottle he turned hastily and left the store, while he that had drunk the poisoned draught paid for the two glasses of soda, and, deliberately shutting up the penknife with which he hak opened the bottle, walked out upon the

"Morphine! Morphine!" he cried. "Get me a doctor quick, or I shall die before he comes."

When the patrol wagon arrived and the young man was put in to be taken to the station house, a large crowd had gathered and when the wagon started off the crowd followed.

The affair created a sensation and was soon the topic of general conversation.

At the station house the young man was searched. On his person were found several

When the doctor arrived Neville was unconscious and sinking rapidly.

Antidotes were applied, and when a party of the young man's friends came in and asked to be allowed to remove him to his boarding house on Bartow street, the request was granted by the officer. Neville was placed in the patrol wagon, and, accompanied by his friends, was starting toward his boarding house.

He took a drink occasionally, and had had a drink or two yesterday, though friends who were with him shortly before he took the fatal draught, are positive he was not even slightly intoxicated.

For two days past Neville has been laid over in Atlanta, on account of the lightness of the freight traffic on the road.

Several years ago he was injured in a wreck, and so badly hurt, in fact, that he was laid out for dead, but afterwards revived.

The name of the young man who went into Jacobs's drug store with Neville and drank soda water with him has not yet been learned.

When he was being locked up at the station house Neville, in a half dazed way, remarked that he wanted to make a statement explainine why he had taken the poison.

But he went no further, and the cause of his rash death will probably remain a mystery.

After he had been locked in the cell he renewed his desire to make a statement to the janitor, but no attention was paid to it, there being at that time some doubt as to whether he had really taken morphine, his actions being so much like those of a drunken man.

WEATHERS, THE ASSISTANT POST-MASTER OF PETER, ON TRIAL.

Young Man Who Is Charged with Having tempted to Follow in the Footsteps of Swindlers of the Big Cities.

The case of the United States against John F. Weathers, alias John F. Ware, was called esterday in the circuit court.

Weathers is charged with sending letter and circulars through the mails with the intent to defrand. The letters and circulars for the sending of which Weathers is accused, are similar to those sent out by the green-goods men of the east, offering, in well-couched yet uncertain terms, to sell perfect counterfeit money.

The defendant is about twenty-one years old; and, judging by that part of the evide which was sought to be introduced yesterday, but on the admissibility of much of which the judge has not yet decided, this young man from the mountains of Chattooga county, has been following in the lines of the "slick" swindlers of the metropolis.

From the little postoffice of Peter, on the Chattanooga, Rome and Columbus railroad under the name of John F. Ware, Weather would address "green-goods" letters and circu lars to all parts of the United States. These he would date as coming from Rome, Chatta-nooga, Trion, Cedartown, and other places in

The company will also have the only electric line to Grant park, West End, the waterworks and McPherson barracks. But one fare will be charged between any two of these points.

The plant is on Glenn street, large enough to run all the cars on the south side of town, and built with the idea of increasing the power in a short while.

The announcement that the council of West End had granted a franchise to this company was read with great interest, not only in West End, but through the city. The peopl of West End have waited patiently for an improvement such as has been promised by the lines already there, and they are ready and willing to extend to the old compa encouragement, but they want this live young road, too. They are for quick transportation and "heaps" of it.

How to Buy Groceries

a question of interest to everybody. A little reflection is all that is needed to con Anticorrelation is all tasks is needed to convince anyone that the question of "How to Buy Groceries?" is one of importance to everyone; for eating is one of the necessities of life, and a good, well-filled table its greatest luxury. Now in answering this question, the first requisite should be pure, fresh goods. Go to some store where everything is kept clean and neat, and where you are sure of getting fresh gsods of the very best quality.

Surely if there is anything that we should be careful about, it is that everything that we eat should be of the best quality and absolutely pure Now we claim to handle only the very best qua ity of everything, and our large trade, which is constantly on the increase, insures freshness. Besides, our store and our goods are kept scru-pulously clean. Everything that dust can injure is kept under glass, and we invite all to come and inspect our stock of pure, fresh, clean and first-inspect our stock of pure, fresh, clean and firstclass groceries.

The next requisite in buying groceries is price.
Today a lady, while buying a bill, remarked:
"Why Mr. Hoyt, I just paid 20 cents for Windham corn and you only charge me 15 cents," On being priced Rijamo coffee, she said that she had always paid 40 cents for coffee until she bought ours and that ours was better. Another lady bought just then some of our fine Jersey butter at 30 cents, remarking that it was the best she could find and 5 cents per pound cheaper than any other.
And we could go on through our stock convincing you both of the quality and cheapness of our goods, but the above will suffice.
The next item in buying groceries is variety
You want to trade where you can find all you want Now it is:conceded by all that we carry the most complete line of everything to eat that can be found anywhere.
No other store carries such a line of evaporated fruits as we do. In canned fruits or canned fish,our stock is complete and varied.
The same is true in all the other lines of estables.

The application of the above is easy of solu-ion.

Hoyt's store is the place to buy fresh, pure, first-quality and reasonable groceries.

All the differences between the road and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers are adjusted, and Mr. Glover and the engineers Yesterday morning a committee from the local division of the brotherhood, composed of Messrs. Harris, Welch and Pearl, left over the Western and Atlantic railroad for Marietta.

Here they were joined by Mr. M. A. B.

Youngson, assistant chief of the national brotherhood.

By agreement these gentlemen met and held consultation with Receiver Glover. All the matters of supposed misapprehension of the contract recently entered into between the road and the engineers, and the rumored vio-lations of the agreement, were fully and freely After an investigation by Mr. Youngson and the committee they were convinced that in no respect had Mr. Glover violated the spirit of erhood, and that any slight departure from the agreement that might have occurred was without his knowledge or consent. President Harrison and party will be in Atlanta on the 15th.

They reach here from Chattanooga over the Western and Atlantic about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and leave by way of Birmingham for San Francisco the same evening.

A telegram making these arrangement was received yesterday by General Passenger Agent C. E. Harman, of the Western and Atlantic.

The train in which the president and his party will travel is composed of one Pullman combination smoking car, one dining car, one compartment sleeping car and one composite observation sleeping car.

The distinguished party will consist of not nore than fifteen persons.

The run from Chattanooga to Atlanta will be made in about five hours, leisurely following the route of Sherman's march to Atlanta, with opportunity of becoming acquainted with the battlefields along the road-Chickamauga, Resaca, Rocky Face, Allatoona, Big Shanty and Kennesaw. The officers of the Western and Atlantic will, of course, do all in their power to make the trip a pleasant one.

They remain in Atlanta only a short time, going from here to Birmingham.

The life and public career of Dr. John M.
Boring is one of the most notable in Atlanta history.
First and foremost he is a citizen older than the city.

He was a physician who was known before the was a physician who was known before.

He was a physician who was known before many of the present doctors were born.

He was one of the oldest and most distinguished Masons in the state.

And last, he was a member of the Methodist church when Atlanta was a small town; and during his long life he never tasted a drop of whisky, wine, beer or cider inside of a saloon, during a residence of half a century.

He has ever been a hard working professional man, a true friend, an earnest Christian and a staunch advocate of temperance.

He has not confined his temperance proclivities to drink alone, but he has observed the same principle in regard to diet, and on both questions he has been ever ready to oxpress his opinion with freedom without fanaticism.

Dr. Boring was born April 19, 1815, five miles below Jefferson, Jackson county, Geor-gia. His father was a sturdy planter, Robert Boring, and his mother was of the Wards of Scotland.

All his life Dr. Boring was proud of his Scotch-Irish ancestry, and of the fact that he was a born Georgian.

His early life was surrounded with all the difficulties encountered by farmer boys of the ciden days.

There were few educational facilities then, and he had to do the best he could until he was a grown up man. Then he took two years off from the routine of farm life and went to school. After that he alternated work and schooling for several years.

On the 22d of February 1847, he removed to Marthasville. On October 4th, of the same year, his wife died, and he, having been engaged in mercantile pursuits, decided to quit business and study medicine.

On February 1, 1848, he went to Augusta to take his first course of lectures, and remained there until the fall.

For several years longer he continued in ousiness, but in 1856 he met and married Mrs. Burge, a lady whom he had known from child-hood, and resumed his studies. In 1857 he was graduated in Augusta, and hen entered into active practice.

He remained in Atlanta and soon became one of the most prominent physicians in the state. In one branch, obstetries, he excelled in the extent of his practice any half dozen doctors in the state with the exception of Dr. Eve, of Augusta, and Dr. Baugh, of La Grange.

His calls were so numerous, on one occasion His calls were so numerous, on one occasion in particular, that he was away for three days and his family became alarmed. He had left Atlanta lodge of Masons, being treasurer, after a night meeting, and his prolonged absence acused a suspicion that he had been robbed, and an account of his disappearance actually appeared in a local paper. It transpired that his calls had been so frequent and urgent as to cause his long absence from home.

He remained in the hospitals in Atlanta and between Atlanta and Chattanooga during the war, and spent several nights on the bloody field of Chickamauga.

Since the war he has been a citizen of Atlanta, until January 16, 1890, when he moved to his new home in the suburbs north of the city.

Dr. Boring assisted her in nursing it all night, and on his arrival in Brunswick he went to the Oglethorpe hotel, feeling very unwell.

On Thursday afterwards, he was taken quite ill, and came home. He never recovered from the effects of his illness.

On June 16th, he was stricken with paralysis, and his condition became such as to cause great alarm among his friends.

After awhile he began to recover slowly, and it was hoped that he would be completely restored, as, with one exception, he had never been confined to his house by illness three days at a time, during his long and active life. ASSEMBLE IN CONVENTION IN HAWKINSVILLE.

A Change in the Official Organi Body-Four Vice Presidents Elected. The Work Ahead of Them.

HAWKINSVILLE, Ga., April 7.—[Special.]— The Georgia Baptist convention, which met here today, is one of the best attended in

There are about 300 delegates here, and more are expected tomorrow morning.

Today five coaches which came down from Macon were crowded, and there was an overflow in the sleeper. It is a considerable undetaking for a place of this size to entertain 300 people, but Hawkinsville is equal to the occasion, and within twenty minutes from the time when the train arrived, all the delegates had been assigned to the homes of citizens. The entertainment was not confined to the town people. Several of the near country people are entertaining dele-gates, and one lady, Mrs. Brown, came from her country residence, nine miles away, to open a house in town and entertain fifteen delegates to the convention. Such ample hospitality is rarely seen in a place of this

The convention is notable for both size and character. The merely curious to conventions in the large cities are not here. This is a working body, and it began straightway to dispatch business. The personnel is strong with such men as Dr. Lansing Burrows, of Augusta; Governor Northen, Dr. Henry McDonald, of Atlanta Hon. A. D. Freeman, of Newnan, Dr. G. A. Nunnally, president of Mercer university; Dr. C. E. W. Dobbs, of Cartersvile, Dr. P. B. Headden, of Rome, and a number of the strongest ministers of the denomination. Among the delegates I notice Congressman elect Moses, of Newnan, who is a graduate of Mercer university. Dr. J. H. Kilpatrick, the venerable moderator, is here, and was reelected by acclamation, with Dr. G. R. McCall, the clerk, Rev. F. C. McConnell, the assistant clerk, and Rev. S. A. Burney, the secretary.

AN IMPORTANT CHANGE. As soon as the roll of delegates had been perfected, Dr. Lansing Burrows sprung an innovation by moving that the time-honored title of the presiding officers be changed from moderator to president, to be elected, and the clerk and assistant be designated assecretaries The object of this motion was not so much to make an innovation as to make room for four vice presidents. It appears to be the idea of Dr. Burrows and other active members of the convention to infuse some new blood and new life into the official body of the convention by making prominent several young men and laymen. It is probably due in part to this that there is an increase dance and an evident freshening of interest at this meeting, notwithstanding the fact that it is not held in a city. Dr. Burrows's proposition was almost unanimously adopted. Thereupon he asked the privilege of putting in nomination for one of the vice presidents his excellency, Governor Northen gentlemen were nominated, and by ballot Governor Northen, Dr. W. H. Patterson, of Dawson; Dr. Lansing Burrows, and Hon. A. D. Freeman were elected vice presidents.

Pending the nominations, and just before the ballot, Dr. Nunnally urged the election of laymen as vice presidents. When the result of the ballot was declared, Dr. Nunnally and Rev. Mr. Harris, of Washington, escorted Governor Northen and the other vice presidents-elect to the pulpit platform, where they occupied seats on either side of President Kilpatrick.

During the afternoon a telegram from Cedartown, inviting the convention to meet next year in the new church there was read. THE BODY AT WORK.

The preliminary work was dispatched speedily, and the convention having reached the eighth item in the order of business, adjourned till 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, when the report of the mission board will be heard. The hours of meeting were fixed as follows: Meet at 9 a. m. and adjourn at 12:30; meet at 2:30 and adjourn at 5 o'clock. There will be preaching in the Baptist and Methodist churches every night. Tonight Dr. G. A. Nunnally preaches the annual sermon to the convention

Mercer university at 8:30 o'clock in the morn ing.

THE PLACE OF MEETING.

The following Hawkinsville gentlemen constitute the reception committee: M. C. Pate, J. S. Willis, J. J. Whitefield, R. D. Brown and J. O. Jelks. The committee of arrangement is composed of Messrs. WOMAN'S GREATEST ENEMY

Laura McHenry, in The Ladies' Home Journal, says:

The headache, par excellence, or rather ad libitum, among women is the "sick headache," and by that I find is meant a headache which is attended in any stage of its action by a nausea, which increases until vomiting ensues, when the patient's skin becomes naturally moist again.

And yet every woman can lessen the number and frequency of her headaches by assisting nature by natural means. The Carlsbad Sprudel Salt, which is evaporated from the natural waters of Carlsbad, taken early in the morning before breakfast, and if necessary at bedtime (about half a teaspoonful dissolved in a tumblerful of water), will supply these means.

It is an alterative and eliminative remedy, which dissolves tenacious bile, allays irritation, and removes obstructions by aiding nature, and not by sudden and excessive irritation, as most cathartics do. It is of great benefit in temporary and habitual constipation, liver and kidney diseases, chronic catarrh of the stomach and bowels, rheumatism and gout, etc., and should be used early in the morning before breakfast, especially during the spring and summer months. Care must be exercised to obtain the genuine article, which is imported in round bottles and has the signature of Eisner & Mendelson Co., Sole Agents, 6 Barclay St., New York, on the bottle.

lature for four years, teneral Gartie! Teatrined to private life and the law, continuity in practice in the northern circuit until 1854, when he became, and has since continued to be, a citizen of Atlanta. In 1856 he canvassed his district as a a electron the Buchanan and Breckinris ige ticket. His efforts on the stump during the trampaign are characterized by thosewhorers imber them as exceedingly powerful and effective.

In 1857 Judge Hiram Warner de climed a resection to congress, and General Ciartrell was nominated and elected by a large a majority. In 1859 he was re-elected by a large a majority. In 1859 he was re-elected by a large a majority. In 1859 he was re-elected by a large and increased majority, and remained in the federal legislature until the Georgia convention adopted the ordinance of secession. While in congress he was regent of the Smit Asonian institute, and was regarded on all he mads as one of the most prominent members of that memorable congress. After Georgia had withdrawn from the union and developments made it certain that war would ensue, General Gartrell returned to his native state and organized the Seventh Georgia regiment, and was unanimously elected to the position of colonel. It is needless to allude, even in a general way, to the record of this gallant command. Along with the Eighth, i bore the brunt of war at the battle of Mai assas, and was thereafter foremost in every battle in which it was engaged. In his report of the battle of Manassas, General Joseph, E. Johnston alludes to General Gartrell as one of the officers deserving of distinction.

While absent in the army with his command, General Gartrell was elected to the confederate congress, and regigned his commission to take his seat in that body in 1862, with the uniterstanding, on his part, that he would remain in congress but one term. He was made the information of the judiciary committee, a position in which he readered mich valuable services to the confederate eracy. At the expiration of that term he declined a re-election, returned to the army and was commiss oned a brigadier general by President Davis, iments of Ceorgia reserves, known as Gartell's Brigas, the command of which he held to the close of the war.

It is used as to allude to the incidents in General Gartell's career since the war. He has been quietly pursuing his profession, albeit taking a deep and abiding interest in all political events that affected his section or his country. He was one of the most successful lawyers in the state, and as a criminal advocate stood confessedly at the head of the profession. He never failed to make a deep and lasting impression on ri jury. His style of oratory was terse, lucid, logical, eloquent and convincing. He took an exceedingly prominent part in the debates in the constitutional convention of 1886, and his, voice always commanded the attention of that body. Enjoying the confider too of the masses, as well as of the members of the convention, his advocacy of any particul ar measure insured for it the serious and ea mest consideration, if not the approval, of his fellow-members.

From the time until 1881 he remained in When Al exander H. Stephens was nominated for governor, General Gartrell entered the race against him, and during that campaign distinguished himself as an orator and skilled politician.

After the election of Stephens he retired again to private and professional life, and since that time has never appeared in the arena of politics.

Widely known, honored and beloved by a large circle of friends, his last days were spent in useful work.

A Brief Sketch.

General Gartrell was born in Wilkes coulity, in this state, on the 7th of January, 1821, and received his education at Franklin collage, now the State university, and at Rande lphonous collage, in Virginia, Choosing laws as est the funders may have been, history tells us that it was used solely for personal advancement and financial gain, and the means employed and measures used to force the heretics into subjec-ion were fearful to contemplate. In the acquisition of a better knowledge and more advanced civilization, these measures were abandoned and religious toleration was the result.

Formerly the best informed would tell you that piles, fistula, etc., could only be cured by the use under the supervision and direction of this distinguished lawyer and statesman. Ger eral Gartrell was admitted to the bar at ar age literary course. He entered the arena of the law fully armed and equipped, and was successful from the start. He decided to begin his professional career in his native county,

General Gartrell was so; successful as a lawyer, even at that early age, that he of the knife, caustic burning and other resources of the kinic, caustic borning and other resources equally barbarous. About this time General Gartrel I entered into partnership with the lament of Judge Garnett Andrews, but continued to ably discharge the duties of solicitor until 12 47, when his fellow-citizens of Wilkes count relected him to represent them in the legists here. He was re-elected in 1849, and at the next session introduced a series of resolutions which, having been adopted by a decided majority of the general assembly, speedily became famous, and were known as the southern rights resolutions. They embadied, in a terse, nervous, compact style, the true doctrine of state rights as held by the south, and the grounds upon which this section of posed the aggressive fanatics, who were at that i time the crusaders of abolitionism. Mrs. Laird was a lovable character, noted for Mrs. Laird was a lovable character, noted for her great Christian faith. Her death was like her life—always ready. Calmly she bid her loved ones goodbye and passed the portals into a haven of rest. No better Christian ever lived. Her husband and children will ever cherish her parting words. GEORGIA GOLD.

GLISTENS IN THE SANDS LUMPKIN COUNTY.

Wonderful Story of Develo Georgia Town - The Mines in Operation.

"There is scarcely an acre of ground in Lumpkin county," said Mr. W. G. McNelley, editor of The Dahlonega Nugget, in an inter view with THE CONSTITUTION yesterday, "but that will have a goiden history before the of this year of grace. You needn't take my word for it," he added, taking a gold bar from his pocket, and laying it down. "The land speaks for itself."

And he was right. The bar, which was a small one, used as a sample, contained 77 pennyweight, and came from the Georgia Homestake mine, in which Editor McNelley has a fourth interest. It told an interesting story, which is but an index of the work which is being done in the gold regions of Lumpkin

It is simply wonderful. The people of Dahlonega and Lumpkin county have been dreaming of the gold treasures in their hills and valleys for years, and they 'awoke' one morning to find that they were rich and famous.

The fame of the county has been blown abroad, until now, from the far forests of California; from the distant Black Hills of the west, the people are thronging to Dahlonega to unearth the treasures of the mines.

"The Crescent Mining Company, of Grand Rapids, Mich., is there." said Editor McNelley, "and has purchased 200 acres of land, eighty of which fairl, glisten with veins of gold. This company has come to stay, and has staked off the remainder of their land in town lots, to which their friends in the west are flocking.

"The Crown Mountain Company, of Nashville, in connection with the Gold Mountain Company, is also turning up the yellow ore. Senator Harris, of Tennessee, is the largest stockholder in these companies.

"But the company which threatens to strike the biggest bonanza, and create the biggest boom for that region is the Sleighthardt Company, of Leads City, S. D.

"For twenty-five years, the gold washings from the Barlow stamp mills have been accumulating in the beds of the streams of Lumpkin." These washings have shallowed the waters of the Chestatee, Cane creek and Yahoola, and in these three streams 500,000 tons of tailings from the mills were found.

"The Dakota Company was quick to see the value of this refuse, which the home mills thought worthless. They bought it in bulk, and they think they have struck it rich."

"What are they going to do with it?"

and they think they have struck it rich."
"What are they going to do with it?"
"Make money out of it. A carload of this stuff has been shipped to Omaha, Neb., where it will pass strough a smelting process, and its value will be determined. If it is found to contain the gold they believe it contains, it will create the biggest kind of a boom for Lucipkin county. The company will erect smelters there and will do the work themselves."

The Homestake mine has three rich quartz veins, but is now working the free gold in the gravel. This is Editor McNelley's mine, and he is working it for all it is worth. "Yes," said Editor McNelley, as he gathered his samples and shook the gold dust from his

BEFORE HIS HONOR.

It is remarkable how indifferent men—and women, too, for that matter—become towards fines and sentences in the police court. Many of those tried before His Honor act as though it were a daily occurrence—which with some it is not. For cases of drunkenness, defendants go through the formality of pleading guilty and paying the fine therefor with as little concern as it is possible to manifest. Upon these the effect intended is not produced, and they say: "Yas, sir" to "Don't do so again," without the slightest serious consideration. These form the familiar faces about the recorder's stand.

An old negro woman was being tried yesterday for quarrelsomeness.

"Do you wish to go the poorhouse, aunty?" was asked.

"No, sir! I jes come fum dar. But politic ques-tions is done broke free, and I'se set loose by the United States gov'nor," cried she excitedly.

Did you ever notice what a vague conception people have of time? To the question how long was required for such and such a thing or what time elapsed, the large majority of witnesses can give no definite answer.

"It may have been five, ten, fifteen or perhaps twenty minutes," some say.

"It lasted for two minutes, fully," was remarked vesterday.

Maid for easy Housework Pearline. Made to save work and wear in all kinds of washing and cleaning. Made into a powder for your convenience.

Made as cheap as pure soap for economy. Made harm-less for all purposes for which soap is used.

What a friend-a friend who did half your washing and cleaning and made the other half so easy that you did not get too tired to enjoythetimesaved; besides made things last longer and look better. That's just what Pearline will do for you if you'll let it. On the back of each package you'll find how it will best befriend you. Every grocer keeps Pearline, and many of your friends use it-ask them about it. You'll use it sooner or later—the sooner the better for both of us. Beware as good as or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back.

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock

Exchange.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The stock market today falled to continue the promising advance of yesterday, but outside of a few specialties which were affected by special causes, there was no real weakness, and the improvement of the last few days was held. The bears had advantage of the holiday in Chicago, owing to the city election, and the engagement of $1,300,000 of gold for export, which has been hanging over the market for some time, and the execution of many stop orders with a free realization on the rise by the trading element in the market. The stubborn strength shown by the Jeading stocks, however, prevented any material setback, and prices tonight are not far from the best fagures of the day. Advices by private cables that the Wilard directors in the Deutsche Bank of Berlin had been forced to resign, was made the occasion of the drive at Northern Pachics, and each retired over 1½ per cent, though the common rallied somewhat in the market though the common ralled somewhat in the market throughout the day, however, were quite irregular, and while the market finally closed heavy, the final losses were insignificant except in Cordage, which lost 2; Sugar, 1½; Chicago gas, 14, and Manhattan 1 per cent. Sales listed, 22,000 shares; unlisted, 30,000.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The market opened strong and with quite a buoyant feeling, and while it sold off somewhat shortly after the opening hour on realizing by traders who are inclined to take their profits, it soon regained its buoyant appearance, which it retained until the last half hour when a decline set in, and most stocks closed lower than they opened on liquidation and on reports of further shipments of gold.

liquidation and on reports of further shipments of gold.

The market is dally becoming broader, and this would prove that the outside interest is on the increase, and the public is rapidly becoming more of a factor. They are certain to take courage from the continued favorable reports and prospects for our crops and the unfavorable report from abroad which is certain to give us a big market for increased surplus production, and we do not see, how there can be any doubt that much commercial prosperity must ensue. In spite of our very bullish views, however, we confess that the market looked somewhat threat to day, and we look for a reaction. On any further decline, however, stocks will again be a purchase, as these prices are pretty certain to look very tending in sugar, common, and we are inclined to think that there was some heavy liquidation at the advance, and we look for a reaction in this stock, too. Chicago gas sold off on a reaction in this stock, too. Chicago gas sold off on a reaction in this stock, too. Chicago gas sold off on a reaction in this stock, too. Chicago gas sold off on the high prices of yesterday.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular. Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, April 7—[Special.]—The lack of support to the market here has been more obvious than for some time past, and despite an advance of one to one and a half points in Liverpool, prices here closed lower than yesterday. Early in the day there was some improvement, but for the first time in several weeks the outside demand for August in the neighborhood of 9 sents appeared to be supplied, and prices gave vary readily. Sales in Liverpool are 6,000 hales, and private cables from there are exceeding; pessimistic in tone. Part receipts are 17,961 bales for the day, and 39,355 for the four days against 33,000 for the entire week last year. The feeling at the close favors a further decline immorrow. Advices from the south generally agree that planting is from two to three weeks late, and the new crop is to that extent handicapped.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The market this morning was quite firm in response to higher Liverpool. There was very little change until toward the close when, in consequence of continued liberal receipts, values declined 4@5 points. It is not at all surprising that with a continuance of the large movement, prices should be unfavorably influenced, and we can only repeat that if the movement continues on the present scale, we must at least look for a temporarily lower range of values. There has been nothing new regarding the weather in the south.

PIGTAIL POLLS.

PAT M'CULLOUGH HAS A REGULAR FEAST OF MONGOLIANS.

They Scorn the Idea of Being Taxed as American Citizens, and the Bailiff Has a Lively Time.

Pigtail poll tax. A new scheme to mulct the heathen of a portion of his lucre.

For about ten days Pat McCullough, acting as bailiff for tax collector Stewart, has been enjoying a regular feast with the Mongolian manipulators of collars and cuffs.

He started out with a bundle of fi. fas. for poll tax, they being let off lightly, so far as business is concerned.

Pat is a man of vigor and determination and when he goes after a thing he generally gets what he seeks. The first hole in the wall that he pounced down upon was tenanted by a hermit-looking heathen by the name of Wun Lung. Pulling out one of the little red slips on which the fi. fas. are printed, he presented it to the Chinaman. The latter looked at it in a puzzled manner, and then, with a winning, celestial smile, he handed it back. "Dis no tickee, eh? You no washee here,

"That's no wash ticket," replied Pat, with a dignified air, "it's a fi. fa., bedad, and Fulton county wants your poll tax."
"Po' tax, eh? Me no tax."

"Yes, you do tax. Everybody has to pay tax. It ought to be more, but the collector is light on you fellows because you can't talk plain."
"Pay fo' what? C'lause no talkee? Me talkee English, alla samee. Den wha' fo' pay, eh?"
"You don't understand. They don't tax you because you can't talk, but that is the reason why they let you off so easy. Come, now, hand over that dollar."

"Me no owe you diallah, eh?"

"You owe it to the state; hand it over." State? Me no Melican man. Want me lend you diallah, eh; dot him?"

"No, may the divil fly away wid your yaller carcass; do you suppose I'd borrow a dollar from a heathen? It's your tax." "No, no; me no tax. Me talkee English,

"Look here, I'll just settle with you, I'll have your other lung, Wun Lung, or! I'll

"Mee no monee-"All right. I'll jest take along this bundle of clothes. I guess that will bring a dollar."
"No, no! Customah shuttee, collah an' cuff. Have you 'lested. Call police."
But Pat picked up the bundle and walked out, followed by the Chinaman, and together they walked to the tax collector's office, where Wun Lung was at last made to understan and pay up.

Hop Shi was the next man tackled.

Pat thought it would be better to explain the law and equity of the case to him.

"Hop, I want your tax, and I want that feller over there to fork over, too." "Me tax? Me no tax. Me washee, washee." "Yes, but the law says that every male citizen, white, black and yalier, over twenty-one years of age and under sixty, must pay $1 poll

'Me over slixty," quickly replied Hop, who looks to be about thirty.
"Me slixty-fi. Me no tax."

"And how old are you?" said the bailiff, turning to the other whose hair was streaked with gray and whose age might be anything

"Yes, you. What's your name?"

"Li Lo; dot's my name." "And how old?

"Well, I just see right now that you and Hop Shi are trying to defraud the state. I'll fust arrest you both." 'No, no! Police, eh? No blass buttons;

no club. You police?"
"No matter. I'll take you along, if I have to take you by them doggoned pigtails of yourn. 2 Pay them $2, quick now, or you go to "Jail? No, no! Here two diallahs. Dot settle, eh? No 'lest?"

"No, I won't arrest you now, but don't you never refuse to pay poll tax no more as long as you live in the city of Atlanta, for if I'm sent to collect it, I'm as my name's Pat McCullough."
"All right. Goo'bye, goo'bye!" The next one was easier to manage, as he could speak English pretty fairly, but further own the street he encountered a new arrival. "What fo' tax, eh?" he asked, when Pat "Why, it goes to send the children to school."

"Me no chillee. Single man, me. No wife." "Makes no difference. Everybody has to pay, bachelors and all. "You pay, too?"

"Of course I do. Would you suppose that a state official would neglect to comply with the laws of the state?" "Dunno. Me no pay. Tlick, eh? April foo' tlick, he he. Go nex' man an' see."

"Leok here, heathen: You can't under stand me, nor I can't understand you; but I'll tell you one thing. This ain't no April fool business. I'll just levy on enough of your stuff

"Wat you do, eh? Takee tlunk? No, wee-wah-wey-clung."
"Don't you cuss me, Dip Thong. If you do I'll knock them crooked eyes straight."

to settle the fifer. Get out of the way."

"No cussee; no cussee—splainee."

FLOATING DOWN THE RIVER.

Two Selma Young Men Lose Their Lives

While Duck Shooting.

Montgomery, Ala., April 7-[Special.]-The dead body of a young man, found yester-day evening seven miles from the city, proves to have been that of John Butler, of Selma, Ala., who left his home, in company with William Taylor, a young friend, on March 12th, for Benton, Ala., from which point they proposed to float down the Alabama river to shoot duck. Nothing was heard of the party at Selma, except that they had not secured a boat at Benton, until yesterday, when the report of the discovery was telegraphed to Selma. The father of the young man came here this morning and fully identified the dead body as that of his son He had it disinterred from the place buried, near where it was found, and had it reburied in the old family burial ground on the Esperanza plantation, formerly owned by Charlotte Thompson. The whereabouts of the young man who was with Butler is un-known, but it is believed that the boat in which they were capsized and both drowned.

Discovered in Time. RICHLAND, Ga., April 7.—[Special.]—Saturday night, about 11:30 o'clock, the kitchen of the Richland Inn, an elegant two-story brick structure, was discovered to be on fire. An alarm was quickly sounded, and for a time it seemed as if the entire building would be deseemed as it the entire building would be de-stroyed. Timely assistance succeeded in ex-tinguishing the flames before reaching the main building. The building is the property of the Americus Investment Company, and is fully covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown. Loss about $200.

The Germ Destroyer.

The Germ Destroyer.

In the field of discovery and invention, medicine has not kept pace with surgery. That, perhaps, is natural; service surgery is the mechanical branch of medicine. The general acceptance of the germ theory of disease, however, opens a new field for medicine, and will take it completely away from the medieval superatitions that still cling to its skirts. And yet medicine is not without its discoveries. It has not been long known, and the fact is now recognized wherever the test has been made, that Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) will destroy the germs of malarial disease, the microbe of skin disease, and the bacilli of contagious and other forms of blood polsoning, ejects them from the blood, and purifies and builds up the system. No medical discovery of our day has achieved such remarkable success.

ORDINARIES ARE STILL WRITING FOR BLANKS FOR WIDOWS. It Will Take More to Pension Them Than to Pension the Old Soldiers—About the State School Commissioner's Office.

The first estimate furnished as to the number of applicants there would be for confeder-ate widows' pensions, based on returns by the ordinaries of the various counties, put the number at 4,000.

Captain Tip Harrison dropped his title of ecretary of the executive department and is how known as superintendent of widows. He now states that his first estimate of 4,000 applicants was too low.

"And," he adds, "it keeps on climbing. I don't know where it's going to stop."

The ordinaries are sending in supplemental reports every day, calling for more blanks.

Cobb county, for instance. The ordinary estimated that fifty blanks would be enough.

Then he got twenty-five more.

And yesterday he wrote for fifty more. It will cost considerably more to pension the vidows than to pension the old soldiers.

The legislature picked up an elephant when they started on widows' pensions.

The Murdered Man's Wife. A pardon application of unusual interest ame to the executive department yesterday The widow of a dead man is asking for the lease of the man that killed her has The man in the penitentiary, for the killing of her husband, is her brother; and since he has been a convict she has contributed largely to the support of his children.

It's a sad case, and one that will be readily recalled. The widow is Mrs. Nash, living just over the Fulton county line in DeKalb. Her husband was killed on the day that Ben Hill's monument was unveiled in 1886, by C. C. Weeks. The two men came to Atlanta, and all were drinking. Returing home in wagon, there were two or three other intoxicated men with them, and they all became engaged in a fight. Weeks struck Nash on the head with a whisky bottle, and killed him.

The body was found in a creek, the back of the head being crushed in. The petition for pardon is a strong one, numerously signed. It is claimed for the prisoner that he had no intention of killing. Nash when the blow was struck, that Nash time was advancing upon Weeks with his knife drawn, that as soon as Weeks saw Nash was badly hurt he got out and ran for a doctor, and that the body was thrown into the creek by the other men in the wagon. Weeks was sentenced for ten years, after trial in the Fulton superior court, and has served about four years of his time. Commissio..er Bradwell's Office.

VACANT LOTS IN THE CITY FOR SALE AT INMAN PARK

April 15th, at 3 P. M.

MAPS OF THIS PROPERTY WILL RE distributed from my office in a few days. Water and gas pipes have been laid, streets graded, walks and drives perfected, making this residence park a thing of beauty. At the same time, it is acknowledged to be the equal of any portion of Atlanta in elevation, healthfulness and value. Edgewood avenue leads from the center of the city directly through the park, furnishing a magnificent, straight, paved street, with a double-tracked electric railroad line, giving communication with this property every seven and one-half minutes. Some of the best people in the south have built elegant homes upon Edgewood avenue, Elizabeth street, waverly Way, Euclid avenue, Spruce and other streets. All the surroundings are simply perfect. The city has agreed to continue to make such improvements as are necessary. Ride over this great and prosperous city and make the comparison with other localities, and you will conclude that right now is the time to secure your home in Imman park. Several expensive buildings of the latest architectural proportions and beauty will be crected on these lovely grounds during the present year. It is a great comfort to know that your neighbor will build as fine a house as you do; that no shanty can confront you. Come in and get a plat, go upon the premises with your wife, and select your lot before the sale, and buy it. The terms are exceedingly liberal—only one-quarter cash, the balance in one, two and three years, 8 per cent interest. Remember that first-class Atlanta real estate advances annually. THE WILSON CASE. THE TRIAL OF FULTON'S EX-TAE COLLECTOR BEGINS.

After Several Continuances, the Trial Is Be gun in Good Earnest and Will Prob-ably Be Carried Through.

The great Wilson trial began before Judge Richard H. Clark in the criminal branch of the superior court yesterday.

The merits of the case are familiar to all who know anything of the history of Fulton county for the past three years. In 1888 Mr. James M. Wilson, then tax col lector of Fulton county, was impeached for alleged defalcation and crookedness in his management of the funds of the county.

He was removed from office and Mr. H. A.

Boynton appointed to fill his place until the next regular election. Soon afterwards he was presented to the grand jury, and, basing the charges against him on the information obtained by experts in going through his books, indictments found against him. Then began the long contest between the state and the accused. Several times has the case been postponed for good and sufficient reasons; but when the case came up yesterday there was no reason for continuing it, and the trial was begun.

The state was represented by Solicitor General C. D. Hill, Mr. H. M. Reid and Hon. W. C. Glenn. Mr. Wilson has the advantage of some of the finest legal skill and acumen in the city. His attorneys are Brewster, Howell & Dorsey, one of the leading law firms of the city; Hon. W. H. Hulsey and Mr. Thomas L. Latham. After exhausting four panels seven jurors qualified. They are: Messrs. R. R. Wand, Jr., James E. West, Jesse O. Garrett, T. H. Blacknall, Benjamin A. Bray, M. B. Byrum and W. J. Latham. Having exhausted the box, Judge Clark adjourned over to 9 o'clock this morning, when the case will be again taken up.

INDICTED FOR MURDER. The Grand Jury Finds a True Bill Against Underwood.

Yesterday the grand jury met and worked for an hour. But that hour's work may mean a great deal for Elisha A. Underwood. An indictment was found against him, charging him with the murder of S. E. Savre, which tragedy is fresh in the minds of the people.

It was feared that the task of gathering up the witnesses would prove troublesome, as the two principal witnesses, Mrs. Sayre and her brother, Mr. Duggar, had left the city.

But they were located at Calhoun, whither they removed soon after the killing; and when the grand jury met yesterday, the evidence was complete, and it was not long before the indictment was drawn.

indictment was drawn.

Underwood is still in Fulton county jall, where he will remain until the time of his trial.

MONEY TO LOAN

Residence Lots For Sale

at Auction.

On April 15th, at 3 p. m., the East Atlanta Land Company will sell at public outery a large number of the most attractive residen lots in Inman Park. This property was withdrawn from the market after the one sale of year ago, and until the plans of improving the park could be completed. During the past year these plans have been perfected. The city has graded all of the remaining streets and the lots have been graded by the East Atlanta Land Company to correspond. Sanitary sewers have been laid throughout the park; about 9,000 feet of water pipes have been laid, extending along Edgewood avenue, Elizabeth street, Waverly Way, Euclid avenue, Spruce and Waddell streets; and these pipes will be extended along the remaining streets at an early date. Gas pipes have also been laid through all of the above named streets and the Gas Company will extend these as the water pipes are extended. This property might all have been sold during the past year, but the East Atlanta Land Company's policy has been to withhold it until the present complete development of its plans for an ideal residence park for Atlanta. The property is now to be sold without reserve, and all parties who wish lots are re-quested to examine the property and attend the sale. We believe no such opportunity will be presented again, and doubless rare bargains will be obtained

BASE MOVE.

That was a "base move" the elements made. Spring began with rain, wind and then snow. Such a combination, of course, blights business, for a season, in light, warm-weather Clothes. It does in some stores-but not here. Trade was never in neater trim -and we are glad.

After all, when you've looked around and compared, don't you find that right here is where the Clothing business of the town is being done—because it is to the interest of buyers to do it here?

Why shouldn't it be? We manufacture for our various retail stores exclusively. That means the smallest possible prices.

Take this $15.00 Sack Suit, "a world beater;" customers say it, clothiers admit it, we know it.

Here are others for $12.00, and such qualities! Styles until you are lost wondering. The whole business is run on a generous plan; handled liberally; skimped nowhere; begun and will end on a big, broad basis. If you require anything in Men's Attire here is the stock that you can least afford to skip—if money saving is an object.
